

A Tradition Worth Celebrating 2022 All Charities Weekend

By Richard Weinstein,
President & COO Ocean Reef
Community Foundation

We were together, in the same room, enjoying the wine tasting or waving a paddle high in the air to grab one of the coveted spots for a Taste of Texas...and it felt great!

The Ocean Reef Community Foundation's All Charities Weekend was back as a live, in-person event. The support was as strong as ever and it showed in the bidding. It also showed in the participation and involvement from our volunteers and the leadership from our Co-Chairmen Adele Acheson and Diane Hill, along with amazing support from their Vice Chairmen Kelly Hertzman, Barbara Olcott and Anne Marie Peretz. Collectively they offered one of the largest auction catalogues in the history of the All Charities event.

Diane Hill summed it up in best with a quote from Winston Churchill, "You make a living by what you get, you make a life by what you give." And it was clear from the giving that Ocean Reef's Unique Way of Life was in good hands. We saw over 115 bids for nine holes of golf with the Club pro, and watched Chef Jared's dinner with 47 bids, and Chef Philippe's dinner with a similar number reconfirm everyone's love of ORC's outstanding culinary offerings. Dinners in Member homes and amazing wine experiences on Members' yachts sold out, along with everything from bird watching to our very own Joan Birsh-designed Ocean Reef Liberty puzzle.

There was even more generosity apparent in the live auction and tremendous support from our Preferred Partners. Of course none of this is possible without the amazing efforts of Ocean Reef Club - a special thank you to Club President Alex Tonarelli and the talented culinary and catering team, Erwin Pals, Philippe Reynaud, Christian Sarquis and Sean Carroll.

So, the question on everyone's mind is, "How did you do?" We are finalizing the numbers but we already know we will once again make a difference in the lives of those that rely on us outside the gates, as well as those who enjoy all of the Ocean Reef non-profits that provide this unique way of life. After all, a successful All Charities is our biggest Tradition.

Memberabilia A GOOD MIX Women & Oil

by Joan Birsh

Diane Hill, who co-chaired (with Adele Acheson) Ocean Reef's successful 2022 All Charities Gala Weekend, was certainly the right person for the job. How daunting could the challenges of All Charities be for a woman who spent many years as a geologist, managing oilfields for Shell Oil.

Geology struck me as an unusual career choice for a woman in 1982. So I was curious as to how Diane Hill, a graduate of the University of Miami with a degree in Oceanography, ended up earning a Master's degree in Geology from Texas A&M and on graduation snared a prized job as a Production Manager for the Shell Oil Company.

At the University of Miami, Diane didn't exactly choose Geology. The undergraduate program required a dual major, so along with Oceanography she added Geology. As she became increasingly fascinated by the study of rocks and minerals and of the process of identifying and mining them, Geology became her first choice for a Master's degree and subsequently, an exciting career.

Shell was interested in involving more women with the management of oilfields, which Google informed me is an area of land or seabed underlain by strata yielding petroleum, especially in amounts that justify commercial exploitation. Diane was well qualified and was hired to oversee oilfields that were located on Lake Pontchartrain outside of New Orleans. Her duties revolved around drilling horizontal wells from offshore oil rigs.

I knew oil rigs were big, but I had no idea they are often the size of at least two football fields, with as many as 200+ workers occupying an inside space that is a cross between a hotel and an office building. Some rigs have gyms, game rooms and movie theatres. The work schedule for the men (and an occasional woman worker) alternates between two weeks on the rig and two weeks of shore leave.

Diane's job was to develop and manage production schedules, which would include when and where to drill for the oil on her fields and what to do with it after extraction. Lots of paperwork, lots of problem solving and lots of helicopter trips to the rig (sometimes requiring an overnight stay in one of the rig's cabins).

Diane's success and pleasure in her work at Shell went a long way to disprove that old saw that "Women and Oil Don't Mix." And when she met and married Keith Hill, a fellow geologist, it became even more apparent that the mix was a good one – with just a slight variation. Geologists in petroleum companies fall into two categories – Production and Exploration. Keith was Exploration and Diane was

Production and at their wedding that was the way the aisles split.

Keith's work involved constant relocation, often for a period of years, so after the birth of their two children, Diane did some consulting work and a lot of resettling. Houston TX, Bakersfield CA, Dubai, the United Arab Emirates, Geneva Switzerland and Diane's favorite Kuala Lumpur, the capital of Malaysia. It was in Kuala Lumpur that Diane most enjoyed being an ex-pat. The children attended an excellent international school and the family was able to make excursions to nearby locations like Thailand, Vietnam and Myanmar.

When the children reached high school age, Keith and Diane moved to Vancouver Canada, which Diane fully expected would be their last relocation. But several years later Keith decided to go into business for himself and he started an oil company in Africa.

Diane found the three years she lived in Nairobi, the capital of Kenya, a wonderful adventure. The country was beautiful and the numerous wildlife preserves offered opportunities to enjoy many safaris. And she and Keith did lots of "off the beaten track" traveling to places like Ethiopia and Somalia. Because she didn't have work or young children to keep her busy, Diane learned to play golf.

In 2013 when it came time to leave Africa, Diane and Keith decided to look for a permanent home. They considered Vancouver or maybe London. Then Diane suggested a place, which figured in her earliest childhood memories. The place was Ocean Reef!

In the mid 1960's when Diane was a toddler, her father, whose career at that time was in hospitality, was hired to manage the Ocean Reef Resort (pre-buyout by residents, OR was a resort). Diane remembers living in a house on Andros Road and riding in a golf cart with her mother.

Keith agreed that Ocean Reef had everything they were looking for in their retirement: diving, tennis and later pickleball, golf and fishing. (Fishing was especially important to Diane, who in the Bonefish Bonnies, found the ladies fishing group she had spent a lifetime looking for.)

With 20 years as ex pats behind them, now at Ocean Reef they savored the experience of once again belonging to a community, making lifelong friends, and enjoying the permanence of the beautiful house they built on Angelfish Cay Drive.

At Ocean Reef, Diane and Keith at last felt they had found a place they could truly call home.

Don't Overlook These Treats

by Terry Baxter

I spend a lot of my time searching for culinary gems to share with you ("culinary gems" is my middle name). Each of these is a new offering I don't want you to miss.

CH Grill Room

The Grill Room is the casual dining venue of the new Clubhouse. It is now serving breakfast, lunch and dinner, and the menus are fun to explore. I finally got a chance to try the French Dip sandwich (lunch). It is a winner – shaved, slow-roasted prime rib, caramelized onions, and premium mozzarella (what's not to like?). And it comes warm in a roll with

A French Dip from the Grill Room so good you'll find yourself sipping the au jus.

Chef Jonathan's ethereal au jus for dipping. It's a bit messy, especially if you have a beard, but don't let that deter you. The sandwich is so large I took half of it home. After a night in the fridge, the au jus was a chocolate colored gel. I started to imagine other ways to use it: sliced into aspic to enliven a foie gras pate, or stirred into soup or stew to step it up a notch (BAM! as Emeril would say). But after thirty seconds in the microwave, the au jus was back to the savory dip for my warmed leftover. It was almost as good the second time. At the end, I couldn't resist sipping the rest of the au jus to enjoy the intensely layered flavors Chef Jonathan creates.

CH Lounge

Our comfortable and friendly gathering place outside CH Prime. If the wide array of drinks and beautiful view of the Dolphin Course aren't reasons enough to indulge, this week the Lounge introduced a Members' night (Wednesdays, five to six) with a complimentary charcuterie tray. Prepared by the CH Prime culinary supervisor, Lyn Adams, the tray included a dish of olives, toast points, cheeses (aged Cheddar, Manchego, Gouda, and Parmigiano Reggiano) and a generous selection of artisanal meats (Salami Milano, Chorizo, buttery Coppa, and more), all carefully chosen and presented. It was a pleasure to linger with friends in this sophisticated atmosphere.

Ocean Room & the Reef Lounge

Chef Ryan Schmidt in the Ocean Room kitchen is experimenting with menu additions. He let me try a new sushi roll. Ocean Room Sushi Chef Louie has created an original that may rival our traditional favorite, Melanie Roll. It has salmon and cream cheese, avocado, rice with an egg glaze, rolled in panko, then briefly deep-fried tempura style. Crispy and creamy, I loved it. He serves it with soy dipping sauce. Chef Ryan said he will offer it next week as a special in the Ocean Room and the Reef Lounge. Try it. I will be there tirelessly working overtime to help uncover new ideas for your dining pleasure. My taste buds thank you.

AT THE CULTURAL CENTER

Masterclass: Outer Space Policy, Military, Civil & Commercial

The Campus at the Cultural Center is pleased to present the second in the season-long series of lectures on foreign policy problems and options. Each lecture is designed to be highly informative, but without partisan politics, permitting our Members to engage in discourse on the issues that challenge our populations and require global cooperation to resolve.

The next lecture will be Tuesday, February 22 at 5 p.m. in the Cultural Center Theater and is complimentary to the Ocean Reef community. Get a group of friends together to listen and prepare for a lively discussion at dinner afterwards!

The Space Race of the 20th century is long behind us; instead of Russia, the new national opponent is China, and the entry of commercial companies like SpaceX is shaking up what had long been a static environment.

It has been 50 years since the last human left the moon (December 14, 1972), but in the intervening time the US and Russia have found the mutual trust to build together the International Space Station in 2011. Russia, however, is a fading force in civil spaceflight, reliant on an aging workforce, decades-old technology and no vibrant commercial space industry to provide new ideas.

In contrast, the Chinese civil space program is very much on the rise. A growing number of nations, including China, India, Russia, France, Japan, North Korea and Iran, are working on space-based weapons.

The Chinese have announced their intention to build a "lunar station" at the South Pole of the Moon, and Nasa will find itself challenged once again.

Commercial space activity began only recently, when the US government paid private companies to develop the capacity to launch and deliver supplies to the International Space Station. SpaceX and Orbital Sciences have flown a combined three dozen missions. In 2020, SpaceX delivered astronauts. Every President has endorsed the goal of sending humans back to deep space, and since 2019 the Artemis program, with a plan to launch humans to the moon, has dominated NASA's civil space activities.

Looking ahead, the competition for uncharted space is a potential threat. China has a 15-year history of tests that have resulted in massive amounts of debris in low-Earth orbit, jeopardizing the use of space for peaceful purposes. There is no international treaty that prohibits such activity, and no agency for cooperation on avoiding collisions.

The pro-business stance of the US government in its space program has been evidenced in its pricing policies, which are no longer cost-plus, but, since 2021, fixed-price. The Human Landing System contract with SpaceX is saving NASA billions of dollars but also stimulating innovation of a reusable vehicle, capable of carrying substantial loads. The dynamism of the commercial space industry offers the greatest chance for supremacy, but it needs to be supported by political priorities as well as a billionaire with a vision. What should be done?

Making Sense of Our Extraordinary Times?

by Rev. Dr.
Bob Henley

Have you attempted to conjure up a memory from the recent past lately? You find yourself having to stop and think. Did it take place before COVID, or after COVID? It's our new wrinkle in time!

I was trying to recall a book study I had led by the Catholic author and professor, Joseph Bottum. His important work is titled "An Anxious Age". It finally dawned on me - it was 'B.C.' - before COVID.

While preparing to lead that

study, I would mention the book title in conversation. The response was almost always immediate. People would say the title descriptively captured what we all seemed to be feeling. It is the German word, zeitgeist, or the 'spirit of the age.'

Needless to say, the level of anxiety has grown exponentially since that day. If Bottum were to write a sequel, I would suggest the title, borrowing a phrase from "The Assassin's Quest", "A Really, Really Bad Anxious Age."

If you were to ask me to identify a sage individual, one who can thoughtfully and insightfully address those forces shaping our present cultural environment, it would be our guest speaker in the Chapel this Sunday, Os Guinness.

Guinness has had a lifelong passion to make sense of our extraordinary modern world and to stand between the worlds of scholarship and ordinary life, helping each to understand the other - particularly when advanced modern life touches on the profound issues of faith.

As a European visitor to this country and a great admirer but detached observer of American culture today, he stands in the long tradition of outside voices who have contributed so much to America's ongoing discussion about the state of the union.

Guinness is the great-great-great grandson of Arthur Guinness, the Dublin brewer. He was born in China in World War II, where his parents were medical missionaries. A witness to the climax of the Chinese revolution in 1949, he was expelled with many other foreigners in 1951 and returned to Europe where he was educated in England. He completed his undergraduate degree at the University of London and his D.Phil in the social sciences from Oriel College, Oxford.

Os has written or edited more than 30 books, including "The Call," "Time for Truth," "Unspeakable," "A Free People's Suicide," "The Global Public Square," "Last Call for Liberty," and "Carpe Diem Redeemed." His latest book, The Magna Carta of Humanity: Sinai's Revolutionary Faith and the Future of Freedom, was published in 2021.

Since moving to the United States in 1984, Os has been a Guest Scholar at the Woodrow Wilson Center for International Studies, a Guest Scholar and Visiting Fellow at the Brookings Institution, and the EastWest Institute in New York. He founded the Trinity Forum and served as senior fellow there for 15 years.

He was the lead drafter of the Williamsburg Charter in 1988, a celebration of the bicentennial of the US Constitution, and later of "The Global Charter of Conscience," which was published at the European Union Parliament in 2012. In this position, he also co-authored the public-school curriculum Living With Our Deepest Differences.

Os has spoken at many of the world's major universities, and spoken widely to political and business conferences. He has addressed audiences worldwide from the British House of Commons to the U.S. Congress to the St. Petersburg Parliament.

Guinness will be speaking this Sunday at the Protestant Congregation's worship service in the lobby of the Cultural Center. At 9 a.m., he will be addressing the theme, 'Serving God's Purpose in Our Generation.' The University of Miami Chapel Choir will be singing at this hour.

At the 10:30 service, Guinness will be addressing many of the controversial issues in our contemporary cultural context. There will be an opportunity to ask questions, and to be both refreshed and challenged by his informed, faith-based insights and assessments.

A creative, positive faith-based children's experience, Kids Matter, is available for elementary school age children at 10:30. It meets in the Conference Room of the Cultural Center and is led by Nicole Blackburn.

Come and join us to hear this renowned speaker this Sunday. Who knows? You may just hear something that will help you start to make sense of these extraordinary times in which we live.

We Mourn the Loss

Kenneth Ogle Dixon

Kenneth Ogle Dixon passed away peacefully in his sleep on December 13th, 2021. He was 93.

A longtime Ocean Reef resident and an original Equity Member, he was known for his community involvement and support of Ocean Reef clubs and charities.

Ken is survived by his wife Peggy, the love of his life who he was married to for 71 years. He is also survived by his children Andy Dixon, Gail Dixon Manuel, Bill Dixon, four grandchildren, and two great grandchildren.

Born in Washington D.C., Ken developed a love for automobiles at a young age. His very first job was washing cars at a local car lot owned by a gentleman named Otho Williams. He was the only person Ken would ever work for.

Once Ken graduated high school, he began selling cars and eventually worked his way to becoming the top-selling Buick salesperson in the country for two years in the late 1950's.

Otho Williams presented Ken a golden opportunity to open his own car dealership in 1961 in the sleepy suburb of Waldorf, Md. He helped Ken set up his facility and secured the commitment of General Motors to make Ken the dealer principal.... All on a simple handshake!

"Ken Dixon Chevrolet – Buick" opened for business and remained a cornerstone of the community for 50 years. Ken moved his family to Waldorf and in 1983, Ken was awarded the "Maryland Time Magazine Dealer of the Year".

Ken was always involved in the community serving as President of the local Chamber of Commerce, President of the Maryland Auto Dealers Association, the local Lions club, Bank of Southern Maryland board of directors, the local Hospital board, and he achieved the rank of 32nd degree Mason as did his father.

Ken always had a love of flying and first started at age 18. He owned many planes including a twin engine Cessna, a helicopter, and an open cockpit stunt plane. He found a farm in southern Maryland in 1976 on the Potomac River where he could build a runway and store his plane right in the house! His wife, Peggy, named the farm "Lanseair" as you could get to it by land, sea and air.

As an avid boater and offshore angler, he stumbled onto Ocean Reef due to an unscheduled engine repair at the Marina. He discovered our airport and was so impressed he went home and told Peggy they were going to buy a place at The Reef and move there for the winters. That was 37 years ago!

Ken loved all The Reef offered to him and his family. He loved to fish and play tennis. He was involved with the Health and Tennis Club, the Moorings condo board, and served as a commander in the Coast Guard Auxiliary where he flew his plane on observation missions around the Keys. He flew till the age of 82.

Ken is interred in the "Chapel of Hope" Mausoleum at Trinity Memorial Gardens in Waldorf, Md.

Any donations are asked to be directed to the Shriners Hospital for Children in Ken's name (donate.lovetotherescue.org).

Member since 1987.

Boutique D'
Reef – Don't Miss Out

Clear your calendar for March 1 – March 3 when Boutique D' Reef opens the doors for great shopping, this year with over 30 vendors. Added this year are 10 new, carefully-curated vendors that won't disappoint! Shop for beautiful clothing, linens, jewelry, leather goods and so much more.

Boutique D' Reef was the original brainchild of Adelaide Skoglund, Mary Zick and Denny Morgan to raise funds for the Ocean Reef Medical Center Foundation. Back in the early years it was tough to find a venue; so private homes, the old parking area by the Marina, Adelaide Skoglund's garage (nicknamed Taj Garage) were the choices. Now, with the space Town Hall affords, the Boutique can offer so many more vendors; old and new. Romantic Room is a long-standing returning favorite (since 1999) as well as Charlotte Kellogg, Catch All and Clara Williams.

Clara Williams has this to say, "Ocean Reef is one of my favorite places. The positive energy of the place and kindness of the people are exceptional. Participating in the Boutique D' Reef is not only fun, but it also raises money for the Medical Center at Ocean Reef – an important service for the community. Emily and

We look forward to seeing you there and remember that a portion of all shopping proceeds goes to benefit the Medical Center.

Lost & Found at the All Charities Gala

By Joan Birsh

My ring, a lovely emerald-cut diamond, was given to me by my late husband Arthur, not only to celebrate our marriage but to celebrate our great and ever-growing love for one another.

Since Arthur's death last April, it had become increasingly important to me.

I never worried about losing my ring. Because I couldn't get it past my knuckle, I was convinced it would stay on my hand forever.

But on the night of the All Charities Gala, as I was reaching for a delicious little dessert pastry, I looked down and discovered my ring was there but the diamond was missing. I was devastated.

Then just as I was beginning to feel the full impact of what that loss would mean to me, Maureen Lampert, who – as the wife of celebrated Chicago jeweler Lester Lampert – has probably spotted many a diamond (though seldom on the floor), began an immediate search beneath our table and in minutes she announced, "Here it is!"

So, there I was, ever so grateful to be cupping a lonesome diamond in my hand but perplexed about what to do about the silver band on my ring finger with its gaping hole, like an overlooked bomb site. I feared that ring would be attached to my left hand for life.

Then Lester Lampert, who is a major contributor to All Charities (for the Silent Auction at Carysfort Hall, Lester Lampert Jewelers had several counters of opulent pieces with 20 percent of every purchase going the All Charities) stepped in and extended his charity to me.

"I can take care of your ring and I won't charge you for it."

He then escorted me out of Town Hall and into Carysfort, where several of his employees and guards were minding his temporary jewelry store. He instructed one employee to find the proper piers and cut off what was left of my sad little ring. Someone else inspected my diamond and declared it to be unscratched. After having measured my finger for a proper ring size, he took my name and address and promised I'd have my ring back in a week.

Lester Lampert is not only into good diamonds, he's also into good deeds.

Now that I'm assured of a happy ending, it's my pleasure to report that All Charities is a night at The Reef that is Not to Be Missed.

The collection of "biddables" was amazing, as was the friendly competition. The food, the wine, the band and the flowers were perfection. And so were the ladies' fashions. Short and long, lots of black and sequins. Everything tasteful and in keeping with the highlight event of the season.

I am sorry I must wait a whole year for the next All Charities Gala.

And Down the Stretch They Come...

by Sean Carroll,
Director of Beverage

Of the many wonderful events that take place during All Charities weekend, one of the Members' favorite is voting on what new wines will be featured on wine lists property-wide. As in previous years, the lineup consisted of 10 red wines and 10 white wines of various grape varietals. The competition was as close as it has ever been this year with many wines being only a few votes apart. With that, here are your All Charities Members Choice

Ben Cart, a registered voter, continues the tradition.

2018 Grgich Hills Sauvignon Blanc, Napa Valley, California
Miljenko "Mike" Grgich first gained international recognition at the celebrated "Paris Tasting" of 1976. Then, in a now-historic blind tasting, a panel of eminent French judges swirled, sniffed, and sipped an array of the fabled white Burgundies of France and a small sampling of upstart Chardonnays from the Napa Valley. When their scores were tallied, the French judges were shocked: they had chosen the 1973 Chateau Montelena Chardonnay, crafted by Mike Grgich, as the finest white wine in the world. The results stunned the international wine establishment and immediately earned Mike a reputation as one of the greatest winemakers in the world. The Paris Tasting served notice to the world that the California wine industry was on the move, and it laid the groundwork for the creation of Grgich Hills Cellar in 1977. Today Grgich Hills produces not only Chardonnay and Sauvignon Blanc but also multiple red varietals including Merlot, Petite Sirah, Petit Verdot, Zinfandel and Cabernet Sauvignon.

2019 Hess "Allomi" Cabernet Sauvignon, Napa Valley, California

Donald Hess, the Swiss multimillionaire, founded his vineyard operation on Mt. Veeder in 1979 and opened The Hess Collection Winery in 1989. The business has since expanded to own more than 1,100 acres of vineyards in Mt. Veeder, Carneros, Pope Valley and Monterey. In 1995, he sought out the Allomi Vineyard with a vision to uncover its potential. Once a dormant beauty, the Allomi Vineyard now gives life to luxury Napa Valley wines. The 210-acre vineyard is focused into 35 unique growing blocks with six different Cabernet clones that add diversity of flavors and complexity to this wine.

These wines will be making their debut in all outlets starting next Friday, February 25 on new wine lists. As always, they will be in Port O' Call as well.

Sculpting the Human Form & More from the Art League

by Susan Bohan

"Sculpting the Human Form with Gregory Johnson" was a fascinating series of four classes ending Saturday with eye-popping results. Most of the Members chose animals, either real or imaginary, while Gus Hillenbrand, the first male participant in 10 years, created an Apache Warrior following the class title. His wife, Nancy, concentrated on turtles.

There were a few beginners, like Hadas Bernard who thought she would give it a try since both her mother and grandmother were artists. She was hoping her attraction to sculptures and familial talent would blend. Her mother with baby elephant was lovely.

Hopefully all the participants will have their pieces bronzed in time to be shown in the next Member Art Show.

Joan Arredia's masterpiece from "Sculpting the Human Form."

Pasta & Friends

Tuesday was opening night for the "Pasta and Friends" Art Show, which will continue through February 25 with some of the finest must-see pieces of art.

The sculptures of Geoffrey C. Smith from Stuart, are lifelike while displaying an unusual fluidity. As he says, "I don't just create art, I am compelled to tell the story of the wild and inspire a connection to nature and the environment that you can hold forever in oil or bronze, a visual story that will endure the ages."

Roberto "Pasta" Pantaleo utilizes the most vibrant colors that immediately catch your eye. He is a celebrated marine wildlife artist whose Islamorada Gallery is a mandatory stop for any art lover visiting the Keys. He sums up his work best: "If we can take a journey and help a little along the way, it will make a difference in the world. The collectors that share my passion for art, the ocean and helping others just make my life as an artist that much more rewarding."

There is also an entire wall of original Cuban art brought to The Reef by the art consultant Alaan Ledesma. The paintings and unusual wooden pieces show the basic island life most of us will never know or see as the artists

This is one of the finest exhibits this year and as, Sherri Harris, Executive Director, noted, "It is exactly how I envisioned it." The Show does not disappoint!

Farmer's Market Favorites

By Susan Bohan

The Farmer's Market has so many great vendors this year. Having heard so much about the special meats available as well as listening to the various ways and what to eat throughout the Super Bowl, the first stop was Lomelo's Meat Market.

Primarily located in South Miami, this is owner Jorge Lorenzo's second year at Ocean Reef and he is doing very well. A former banker, he formed the company with some friends and they have never looked back. All of their meats are premium grade. "We are committed to quality. Our meats are fresh, never frozen and can stay in your fridge for up to a week or freeze very well. Our most popular cuts are our filet, ribeye and New York strip steak. Even our sauces are of the highest quality. We could buy cheaper but we do not believe in shortcuts." Before leaving, I purchased the Wagyu filet and the lamb chops, anxious to see what friends were raving about. It is not hype. Best meat ever!

Another vendor who places quality over all else is Bon Appetreat. Created by Elizabeth Bermant when her beloved Great Dane was ill and would not eat, she developed a special diet for him and then began to market it as she realized what a difference it made in his recovery. "Nutrition is the key to a long and healthy life among our four-legged friends. Consuming commercial dog foods is like our eating fast food three times a day. We believe in going the extra mile and have an animal nutritionist as part of our team to ensure just that." All their food is dehydrated to extend the shelf life, which is especially important in South Florida. Warm water brings it back to the delicious standards they insist upon. Having just lost our beloved dog, Skittles, last week, I personally know just how helpless we can feel when our pets are not thriving. So if treats like 'Achy Breaky Heart' or 'Fishy Palooza' or dinners like 'Pork and Beans', 'Let's Meat' or 'Allergy B-Gone' intrigue you, stop by for a chat with Liz. She can even develop a specialized recipe if needed for your furry friend.

See a complete list of visiting vendors on page 22.

Art & Fashion Walk....

Alert! Tomorrow from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. the Fishing Village will morph into a fashionable souk for the annual Art & Fashion Walk. I plan to arrive at 11 sharp, so I can go "treasure hunting" for items – fashionable and artistic – that are displayed on the racks or the booths that line the street... Then at 12 p.m. I'll attend the Cut Flower Demo at RF Orchids. And by 1 p.m. – after a time-out snack at the Food Truck – I'll be all set for the highlight of Art & Fashion Walk – the Fashion Show.... The attractive clothes featured in the show are from many of our favorite Fishing Village shops, plus the outliers - Tennis, Golf, Fitness. The photos shown here are from last year's Fashion Walk event and the models are (as always) Members, associates, store employees. The stage is outdoors (across the street from J. McLaughlin).... The fashion show is complimentary and so is the champagne and gift bags.... Hope I'll see you tomorrow 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Fishing Village.

Awarding Associate Excellence

By Holly Houser,
Ocean Reef Press Manager

Since 2004, Ocean Reef's Awards of Excellence program has recognized Associates that go above and beyond in making lasting impressions on Members, guests and each other. From providing exceptional service to supporting their colleagues, these are the Associates that help make Ocean Reef so unique. Earlier this month, the outstanding Associates for the 2021 year were celebrated at Town Hall Waterside.

Traditionally, Awards of Excellence recognizes individuals in three categories – Associate of the Quarter/Year, Manager of the Quarter/Year, and Team of the Quarter/Year. The recognition process begins with manager-submitted nominations. Upper management then vets those nominations, reviewing items like satisfaction scores, attendance, safety record, volunteer record and more, and chooses winners for that quarter. Then at year's end, based off the same criteria, yearly winners are selected from the pool of quarterly winners.

In 2020, a new Associate Spirit Award was also implemented. This award honors those who exemplify the spirit of Ocean Reef, combining a positive attitude with tremendous teamwork and a readiness to help others.

"The past couple of years have shown it truly takes each and every Associate working together to keep the Club thriving," said Club President Alex Tonarelli. "While we are proud of all of our Ocean Reef Associates, we give an extra special thank you to the 2021 award winners who have shown passion and a willingness to exceed at all that is asked of them."

Congratulations to the 2021 Awards of Excellence winners:

The A to ZZZs of Sleep & Nutrition Lecture

Mon., Feb. 21 at 2pm

By Monica Auslander, RD,
Visiting Dietitian Specialist

Research has shown that inadequate sleep can lead to unfavorable alterations in immunity, metabolism, irritability, anxiety, sexual dysfunction, skin issues, slower reaction time, reduced strength/power/endurance, unfavorable mood changes, bowel disturbances, memory loss, poorer blood sugar control, issues with appetite-regulating hormones, and increased inflammation in the body. Sleep is when the body takes the time to repair, recover and rest.

In my nutrition practice, I see many clients struggling with weight and bowel issues. Upon closer examination, many of these clients have awful sleep habits which are contributing to these issues, partly from hormones like ghrelin, leptin, cortisol, insulin, and other digestive enzymes not having the proper time with the body asleep to function well.

When you sleep well -- you live, think and eat well. In total, eight hours (at least!) should be adequate, but individual sleep needs vary. Supporting optimal health depends largely on you to get good sleep and setting permanent habits.

Enjoy the health benefits of sleep by:

- Stick to a sleep schedule.
- Do not watch TV or play on your phone before bed. If you insist on this before bed - set a timer for 30 minutes maximum.
- Cool your room to about 68-72 degrees.
- Avoid foods that can disrupt sleep like spicy food, fried food, and large heavy meals before bed.

- Limit daytime naps to 45 minutes so they do not disrupt nighttime sleep.
- Limit caffeine before bed.

The White Knight who Saved the Race

by Frank Schneider,
Card Sound Sailing Club
Commodore

The Card Sound Sailing Club's (CSSC) first race of the Magic Series on Saturday seemed to start under friendly conditions, until Murphy's Law hit.

The anchor winch of Nimbus, our Race Committee Boat, did not work, which meant the boat could not set anchor in position to create a fixed start and finish line and no racecourse at all.

Another race to be canceled? No way!

As a White Knight,

Bill Lynn, Executive Director of the Herreshoff Marine Museum, and the trophy.

George Lucas appeared on a Regulator powerboat, accompanied by his daughter Meg, to save the race. A line was thrown from Nimbus to the Regulator, which had thrown a very strong anchor to keep both boats together in a fixed position, able to set start and finish line almost in time.

Moderate winds from the George Lucas and his daughter Meg save the race keeping both boats anchored together.

NE allowed three races, although the wind went considerably down in the third race. Time to get back to Baker Harbor and arrive at the Racquet Club for the festivities of the day - our traditional February luncheon, this time perfectly prepared by Chef Glen Bohner.

The bar cart was set by Rick Chanin and after everyone had a welcome drink in hand, the winners of the day received their trophies. First place to Neil Sullivan and James Maida, second to Jack Lampman and our guest Bill Lynn, and third to Sally and Bill Reynolds.

Bill Lynn is the Executive Director of the Herreshoff Marine Museum and he came not only to sail and drink with us, but to honor CSSC with a trophy created at the occasion of the golden jubilee of the Museum. The trophy was accepted by Commodore Frank Schneider for sailing and maintaining in the tradition of Nat Herreshoff - one of the few One Design Bullseye Fleets in the country.

The fest came to conclusion with a cheer to the man who saved our sailing day.

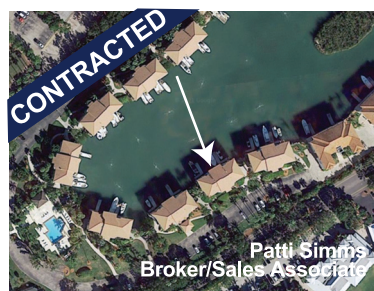

Everyone interested in sailing, please contact our CSSC membership chair, Gary Sayia, at gsayia@aol.com for more information.

Golf Croquet Doubles Champions

By William Hinkebein,
Croquet Chair

Last Friday, the 19th Golf Croquet Doubles Championship was held on a beautiful day at ORC, with a deep blue sky and the lush green lawn.

Eight teams, consisting of former champions, veteran players with new doubles partnerships, and newish players definitely worthy of playing, came ready to play in this signature event. Four teams in each of two blocks competed in round robin play. The top two teams from each block would play in a Final Four.

The top-seeded team in each block were upset, defeated in their first round robin game, showing the true depth and quality of play at our club. All games were played quite well with players showing their skill in short and long distance setting up, clearing, stop shots, jumping and shooting the wicket. Many wickets were fiercely competed with fine defense. By mid-day, the Final Four teams emerged to play in the semifinals.

William Hinkebein and Alan Thomson, Croquet Doubles Champions.

Team Mike Love & Heather McHold Campbell:

Mike is in his second season of serious Golf Croquet and has learned so much, including the finer nuances of strategy. His shots are well placed. Heather is new this season to Golf Croquet. However, she is a former 6-wicket player, so she definitely knows how to hit, roll and shoot the ball.

Team Joan Flippin & Charlotte Curry:

These young ladies are veterans of the game, playing at Ocean Reef and Anglers Club. Joined as a team in the few days before this event, they came out firing, rolling the ball extremely well!

Team Laura & Kendall Hendrick:

Laura and Kendall are two of the better players at ORC, KLAC and in all of South

Croquet Doubles Finalists Charlotte Curry and Joan Flippin.

Florida. They love Golf Croquet and play quite well individually and as a team. The Hendricks came into this event as the reigning champs, having swept this tournament last year.

Team Alan Thomson & William Hinkebein:

Alan Thompson is a longtime solid player. Perhaps no one at ORC "clears" the ball as well as Alan. He is a former ORC doubles champion having last won this event in 2017. William Hinkebein is not very good. However, he loves the game and his croquet friends at ORC and KLAC. He can get a few lucky shots every once in a while. He is dependent on his partner for team success.

The Final

After the hotly contested semifinal matches, two teams played in the final to seven wickets. Team Thomson/Hinkebein gained early leads of 3-0, 4-1 and 5-2. However, Flippin/Curry fought back brilliantly, closing the gap to 5-4. At this point, either team could win this Championship.

The 10th wicket was a long drawn out slugfest. Each team looked like they could gain the wicket but solid defense kept extending play.

Ultimately team Thomson/Hinkebein gained the 10th and 11th wickets, thus winning 7-4. Congratulations to the new Champs and all who played.

One of the many traditions at Ocean Reef Club is the crowning of a yearly Club Champion and getting one’s name permanently added to the Club’s history. Our Tennis Club Championship records date back to the beginning of the new millennium, when

The infamous “Wall of Fame,” located at the Tennis & Games Center.

Deenie Goldsmith and Sandy Chapin, along with Bill Sport and Pete Swenson, became the first recorded Champions of Doubles playing at the old Marina Tennis Center.

In the years since, we have had 18 different Ladies’ teams and 15 different Men’s combos win Championships. The team with the most victories in the Ladies’ Doubles is Cyndee Swenson and Denise Ecuyer, while the Men’s team with the most wins is Pete Swenson and John Schaeffer.

The individual with the most Ladies’ Doubles Championships under their belt is Denise Ecuyer, with eight titles, while the most decorated in Men’s Doubles is Pete Swenson, who won an amazing 12 titles!

So who is going to add their name to our Champions Board on the “Wall of Fame” at the Tennis & Games Center? Remember, if you are not in this year’s tournament and come over to watch, we will add one ticket for you to enter our drawing for two box seat tickets to the Miami Open on March 24th. The drawing will take place after the last match and you must be present to win!

Hope to see you all at the Tennis & Games Center this weekend!

Super Weekend at the Waste Management Open

Plus LGA Enters the Wild, Wild West

"From the Gold Tees" by Michael Leone, Director of Golf

The Waste Management Open, one of the most thrilling golf events, took place this last weekend at TPC Scottsdale. Over 200,000 patrons gathered to watch the best players in the world tee up.

The finish was exciting as Scottie Scheffler won the Championship after a three-hole playoff. Though that may not be the most memorable part of this year's Waste Management Open.

The 16th hole is likely the single most exciting hole in the game. There are over 20,000 spectators on this short par 3 with grand stands built all the way around, providing a stadium feel. Fans cheer and boo in reaction to all shots, but nothing matches the atmosphere when a player makes a hole in one.

The event has gone several years since it saw an ace on the 16th hole, but this year had two! Sam Ryder and Carlos Ortiz both carded aces on the 16th hole. Needless to say, the fans went crazy! Over 2,300 tee shots were hit between aces before Sam Ryder knocked it in and it only took 33 more for Carlos Ortiz to match him!

LGA Invitational

Directing the excitement back to Ocean Reef, 148 ladies participated in the annual LGA Member-Guest Invitational, making it the largest in event history.

The competition was fierce and the outfits were even better. After two no-nonsense, good shootin' days on the golf course, there were only a few cowgirls that proved this was not their first rodeo. Many of the flights came down to just a few shots, but only a select few teams were able to lasso the lowest score within their respective flight.

With flight prizes in mind, two teams wrangled their game to the title of the Wild Wild West Overall Champions!

Overall Gross Champions:

Martha Lindner & Martha Leach (139)
