Stars Align for Reef Cup Champs Mojo/Remix

"Everything fell into place." That is how Colin Caldwell, from Mojo/Remix, summed up his 2023 Reef Cup win in his third appearance in the tournament. After a couple years of participating for "the experience", Caldwell decided this would be his year to get serious, and serious he was.

"In previous years, we just wanted to be a part of it but didn't know exactly what we were doing," said Caldwell. "Then this year I decided we were going to win this thing."

Step one, and the most important step in his opinion, was gathering the right team. The core of his crew was made up of his family - stepson Will Hahnfled, cousin Kristina Cole and her husband Ryan. Their not-so-secret weapon

Gotta Question?

I heard that additional accessibility features were added to the Clubhouse, is this true?

Yes, that's true! Now that the Clubhouse is fully complete, we've been able to enhance existing features based on Member feedback. Recently, we added a "push button" door opener to the Clubhouse main doors so they will open automatically at the push of a button. We also applied for a new permit so we can install an ADA wheelchair lift this summer. Both are in addition to the wheelchair ramp that was built into the renovated entrance to the Clubhouse.

We know this has been on the minds of many Members and we're excited to be able to soon have the additional handicap accessibility complete.

was finding a top-notch Captain and Mate, which is exactly what they found in Remix Captain JC Cleare and Mates Jorge Corzo and Alex Castellanos.

"As a family, we've fished together casually many times, and I've even entered tournaments in Cabo with my cousin and her husband," Caldwell said. "Despite that, this was not only the first time this whole crew fished together, but also the first time, aside from when I won the fishing portion of Grand Masters in 2020, that I've really won a tournament down here. Things came together perfectly." The tournament excitement started right off the bat for Mojo/Remix when they landed a triple within the span of three minutes, 45 minutes after lines in on Day One. "It's amazing that we hit a triple first thing in the morning because there were five boats around us and not one of them got a fish the entire day," said Caldwell. "Everything just worked right for us."

By day's end, they finished near the top with 900 points, thinking they won the day until their good friend Steve Smith on Raptor hooked a fish at the last minute, bringing Mojo/Remix to second place for Day One.

Mojo/Remix decided they'd fish Day Two in the same spot they fished at the day prior – a decision that paid off. Day Two would prove to be equally as exciting as they rounded out the day with Kristina Cole hooking a sail at 3:56 p.m. – just four minutes before lines out. This, Caldwell said, was the most memorable moment of the tournament for him. The moment that "sealed the deal" for having a real chance at the trophy.

How did the Caldwell and Cole families spend Day Three? The answer was "miserable" and by the pool. "It was a long day of checking our phones and refreshing the stats page," said Caldwell. "But the moment Steve Smith texted me 'Congratulations' from aboard Raptor, I knew we had done it. We were all out at The Point watching the boats come back in and it was a cool feeling."

When Caldwell spoke of the Reef Cup, you could feel the pride and excitement boil up. "I thought I knew what Reef Cup meant before, but until winning the tournament, I realized I didn't fully understand its magnitude," he said. "The number of people that have called and texted me from all over the US has been outstanding. It's neat to know so many people follow the Reef Cup and monitor the stats page, even when they're not here on The Reef."

And then to walk D-Dock where I keep Mojo and be congratulated by the other captain and crew has been really fun. Even walking into the Raw Bar, all the people I know there are so excited for me. It's bigger than a win, it's a feeling of community and camaraderie."

The Caldwell's, who have been Members since 2013, just moved to Ocean Reef full time in September 2022 and said "it's even more special now that we live here and really get to experience the win as a part of the whole community."

In fact, he asked his son if he wanted to take the Reef Cup trophy to The Academy for show and tell. The answer was, "No, dad. I didn't win the trophy, you did," but after his son asked if he could carry it into the house, Caldwell thinks he may change his mind.

The Caldwell's story emphasizes the fact that Reef Cup extends far beyond just a fishing tournament. Yes, it's about competition, but it's also about family, friendships, camaraderie, community, and a love for all things Ocean Reef.

Always Faithful

"How We Got Here" by Mike Smith

The United States Marine Corps have a motto: Semper Fi. It means 'always faithful' and it applies to all Marines and their steadfast loyalty to each other.

Back in the late '60's, our own Ray Larkin (Ocean Reef Club Chairman) knew he wanted to be a Marine, so between his junior and senior years at LaSalle University, he chose the PLC (Platoon Leaders Class) path to qualify to become a Marine second lieutenant. During his basic training, Ray recalls that he was presented with an almost infinite number of reasons not to become a Marine. Stalwart, Ray became a Marine and then a second lieutenant passing with flying colors. He was then assigned further training in communications.

Nearly six months later, Rich Beyer (ORC Airport Committee Chair and former Board Director) followed a similar path. After graduating from Georgetown University, he went to Officers Candidate School (OCS) at Quantico, Va. to become a Marine officer. Ten weeks later, Rich became a second

Rich Beyer and Ray Larkin

Lieutenant and was also assigned to further training in communications.

As the Cold War raged on, NATO planned a huge show of force in Norway and Marine Communications were vital to its success. It was also a chance for Ray and Rich to work together and get to know each other. They became friends. After the operation was over, Ray and wife Maryann would have dinner with Rich and his friend, a Naval nurse. (His wife, Nikki, was not yet in the picture.)

When Rich received his honorable discharge several years later, he moved to New York, got his Masters degree in Russian and eventually worked for Burroughs. Ray stayed in the Corps, retired '75 as a captain five years later and moved to Philadelphia. He worked for a medical device company and ended up in California.

Over the next forty years

Annual Marines Birthday celebration organized by Rich and Ray after they made their reconnection.

Ray and Rich lost track of each other even though they both lived in California less than thirty miles apart.

In 2016, Ray was looking for a table where he and Maryann could join at that year's Gala. Tom and Sally Davidson had an opening and asked them to join. Tom also asked Rich and Nikki Beyer to join them not knowing they knew each other. When the guests were being seated, Ray noticed the name 'Rich Beyer' and thought of his old buddy never thinking it was really him. But then Rich showed up...an aha moment. They embraced and talked well into the night. A friendship rekindled and a bow to the true meaning of 'Semper Fi'.

Marina Seawall Replacement Planned for Summer

With improvements last made in the 1980s, this past year the Club contracted two independent surveyors to examine the condition of the Marina Seawall. Both determined that the seawall had reached its useful life and was in need of replacement, prompting the Board of Directors to approve the construction project for the summer of 2023. The replacement will run from the Marina Fuel Dock to H Dock, highlighted in the image pictured.

Recognizing that this project will be intrusive to dock owners and Marina users, construction is scheduled to begin in May when Member usage decreases. The Management and Marina teams have worked with the contractor to create a timeline that minimizes the disruption to Members wherever possible however availability for Member dock rentals this summer will be limited.

Work is slated to commence on May 1, with the Fuel Dock and D Dock being removed from operation at that time. Preliminary staging work will begin the week before, with construction fencing, and equipment staging. The project will continue from south to north, with each dock out of order for approximately 6 to 8 weeks. Additionally, our Marina Team will operate from the lobby of the Marina Fitness Center for a few weeks in the later part of May, into early June, as the work takes place around the Dock Office area.

In addition to replacing the 1,100 feet of seawall, the height will be increased, the electrical service will be upgraded and the landscape and driveways will be improved. The Club anticipates a November 2023 completion of this significant project, and looks forward to providing an enhanced experience for this important Member amenity.

Streaming Redux

by Terry Baxter

It's really nice to get feedback when you write an article, but disappointing when it's because I confused my readers. Friends Jerry and Judy Jared told me they couldn't find one of my streaming suggestions, The Bear. Here is what I said several weeks ago: "The Bear (Netflix) has just streamed its second season with ten new episodes. A young chef from the fine dining world comes home to Chicago to run his family sandwich shop after a heartbreaking death in his family." The Jared's searched Netflix and found many bear projects. They found bear hunts, bear cartoons, and bear documentaries. They watched the trailer for The Cocaine Bear and concluded it could not be the program I had touted. Judy said, "We couldn't believe you would like a drug-crazed bear chewing up the scenery and people." True Judy, thank you. The (TV Chef) Bear is on Hulu. My mistake. Sorry folks.

I decided I should stick with Netflix and Amazon Prime offerings, which most streamers subscribe to. That means you can still enjoy Lupin, Jody Steele's recommendation on Netflix, and 24 episodes of Jack Ryan on Prime Video. My most recent favorite, The Offer, about the making of The Godfather, was streamed on Paramount+. But with a little tweaking you can watch Paramount+ on Amazon Prime. Amazon Prime members can access Paramount Plus by adding its channel. To do it through a desktop computer, launch Prime Video on a web browser, sign in, find Paramount+ through the list of featured channels, and click on its channel graphic. Next, click 'Learn more' within the Paramount+ banner on top of the page. Click 'Start your 7-day free trial,' confirm payment details, then hit 'Start your free trial' at the bottom of the page to immediately begin watching Paramount+ movies and TV shows. Note that once the free trial period elapses, charges for the subscription will be billed through the user's Amazon account. At $9.95 a month, it's cheaper than a monthly movie date.

as a private espionage agent framed for murder. (Paramount+). Two other Prime Video series are worth your consideration: Drive to Survive and Your Honor.

Drive to Survive, (Prime) (five seasons, ten episodes each). This is the docudrama that has created millions of new Formula One Grand Prix fans around the world. Unprecedented camera access to racing footage, team garages, driver interviews and home visits brings new meaning to the high-octane competition. The season has just begun on track, and on air for season five of Drive to Survive.

Your Honor (Showtime on demand, Prime Video) (two seasons). Fan favorite Bryan Cranston trades in Walter White (Breaking Bad) for judge's robes. He faces a tightening Gordian knot of moral dilemmas. Season two begins slowly while Cranston deals with the crushing fallout from season one, but is now building to an explosive finale of the series this week.

You will also be ready to tune in to the Rabbit Hole premiere on March 26th with eight episodes to follow. The series stars Kiefer Sutherland

An Eye-Opener

Last season my son Tom Rubin spent several months with me at my home in Ocean Reef. During his stay, Tom walked many miles each day happily exploring Ocean Reef. His enthusiastic accounts of his travels were for me something of an eye-opener. Suspecting that other longtime ORC Members, busy and distracted by all the wonderful activities our Club has to offer, might also enjoy being reminded of the natural beauty of our surroundings, I asked Tom to share his impressions with Ocean Reef Press readers. – JOAN BIRSH

GUEST COLUMN – by Tom Rubin

Until last April, I hadn't spent more than ten days at a time on The Reef. Every year, my wife and two kids and I would make a week-long holiday visit to the lovely home my parents built here in the 1990s. They were amazing visits—we'd play tennis and golf, eat like royalty, and watch the kids grow from toddlers splashing in the lagoon to teens nervously navigating the golf-cart driving test, to young adults who now like to join us for well-garnished OR cocktails in the Reef Lounge.

My takeaway was that Ocean Reef was the perfect vacation spot--great weather, great people, great food, and magical white guest credit cards that made everything seem free (except, of course, to my parents).

But these quick glimpses weren't the full picture. What I (along with many of Ocean Reef's other short-time residents) didn't have the time to appreciate is that OR is so much more than an Instagram playground. You need to settle in for a spell to appreciate this place for what it truly is: a thriving small town, a fascinating ecosystem, a welcoming home.

I was only able to take the long view after two extended, months-long stays over the last year, first to help my newly widowed mother cope with her loss, and then to recuperate from a hip replacement. I won't lie: As a lifelong New York City boy and a recent retiree with a travel addiction, I wasn't sure if I could truly adjust to living "leisurely".

But it only took a few days for the gentle rhythms of OR life to seduce me (it helps that the Reef Treats cappuccino is superior to anything Starbucks can whip up). With more time on my hands, I wasn't at the mercy of a manic "one-week-in-paradise" activity schedule. And though I had concerns that living on The Reef might frustrate my innate preference for walking. Says who? I was under surgeon's orders to put my new hip to work, so I forced myself to take longer and longer strolls around streets that for decades I'd been golf-carting through without ever really seeing.

These walks gave me an entirely new perspective on OR's natural beauty. As a visitor, I never really gave The Reef's botanical life much thought beyond the freshness of the mint in my mojito. It was only after living here across the seasons that I got to appreciate the full natural spectacle The Reef offers. Who knew that there were trees here with boughs sleeved in pink blossoms that would make a geisha swoon? And what about that annual riotous carnival of bougainvillea and other tropical flowering plants? Walking a bit farther into some of the Reef's older neighborhoods, I started to notice the incredible variety of orchids hidden in shadows in most of the yards, not to mention palm trees whose height defied belief.

It was the same with the animal life. We've all caught glimpse of the tiny lizards that are always scurrying away just before you step on them. Now I began to notice their larger, dinosaur-like cousins with their inflatable rainbow chin bladders. Or more than a few basking iguanas, seemingly unperturbed that they had a bounty on their invasive heads. And while you don't see nearly as many unhoused cats on The Reef as in the old days, being a semi-local gave me the chance to become familiar, if not friendly, with a few of them.

But the greatest revelation about OR's green side came when I finally made a few kayak trips through the expanse of the surrounding mangrove forests--something I never seemed to have the time for as a transient visitor. I hadn't realized that within earshot of the Jimmy Buffet tunes playing at the Lagoon, there are mangrove islands filled with scores of nests of the local cormorant colony. Kayaking between the walls of impossibly convoluted mangrove roots is a surreal experience--you can spend hours drifting in and out of their silent shadowy recesses, an entire alien terrain made out of... plants.

But along with a new appreciation of The Reef's natural life, I began to take notice of The Reef's unique folk culture. For one thing, this is golf cart-based society--what pickups trucks are to Texas, golf carts are to Ocean Reef. There is Golf Cart Trick-or-Treating; Golf Cart Shopping Sprees; Golf Cart Scavenger Hunts (e.g. to find the many wacky mailbox designs, another Reef idiosyncrasy). During the Covid lockdown my parents and their friends kept their sanity by meeting for socially-distanced Golf Cart-tail parties.

And then there are the coconuts. In my walks, I started to notice brightly painted coconuts that were randomly, but deliberately, placed in the unlikeliest locations. Coconuts with abstract designs, or flags, or weird bug-eyed faces found balanced on a fence pole or in the jaws of the crocodile statue off Anchor Drive. To this day no one seems to have a clue where they came from or what they mean, but I hope they aren't scaring all those little kids at The Academy, though most likely they are finding them amusing just like the rest of the OR residents.

One thing I shouldn't have found surprising (but I did nonetheless) is how friendly and kind residents are to visitors and to one another. But being here over time and seeing the same friendliness day-in and day-out, it dawned on me that I wasn't simply enjoying "good service", I was enjoying being part of a true community of OR Members, who like and respect each other, who watch each other's backs.

There's an old joke about the Bostonian who, 30 years after moving to a renovated farmhouse in New Hampshire, finally gets up the nerve to tell his neighbor, a crusty tenth-generation dairy farmer, that he now considers himself a "local". The old Yankee disagrees: "Just because yuh put a biscuit in the oven doesn't mean yuh'll get a turkey out of it."

Maybe so, but I'm ready to claim that after my own thirty years of knowing Ocean Reef only as a once-a-year visitor, I've found that OR's warmth is enough to turn biscuits into turkeys.

Aviation Day Cleared for Landing

Tomorrow! Saturday, March 25

There is something for everyone in the family at Saturday's Aviation Day. Get ready for an engaging and educating look into the history of Aviation with plenty of interactive fun along the way.

In addition to the incredible guest speaker lineup highlighted last week, Betty Geiger-Darst, A Living Biography of the Wright Brothers, Howie Franklin, Former Air Force One Flight Attendant and Brian Udell, Supersonic Survivor, there are several static displays not to be missed, two of which are owned by Ocean Reef Club members!

When Bill Nutt purchased the 1959 Cessna 182 Skylane in 2019 from the Schiff family who had owned it for 60 years. It had only 1240 hours on the air frame and engine, and was in entirely original condition. It underwent a two-year safety renovation but the engine, paint and interior are all original. Mr. Nutt loves taking his 182 for short trips to Naples, Palm Beach, Orlando etc. and particularly for evening sightseeing trip down the Keys to Marathon.

Steven David will have his N93SD on display which is the latest version of the T182 Cessna. The Avionics are all Garmin g1000 n i with a GFC 700 auto pilot. It is additionally equipped with synthetic vision and AC. He and wife Sabrina use the plane for business and traveling to their summer home on Lake Keowee in SC. Mr. David says that the surrounding ocean and bay are amplified at altitude and the Airport at Ocean Reef is one of the main drivers that brought them to become Equity members.

Another classic on display is the 1986 Skybolt. Owner Dale C. Wolfe tells us, "the Skybolt was originally built from plans in a garage and is a true marvel of aviation homebuilding. With a Lycoming IO-360 180hp engine and fully aerobatic capabilities, it was once the most popular experimental aircraft in the United States. Able to handle over six times the force of gravity in normal aerobatics, this plane can even fly upside down for a mind-boggling 45 minutes." Mr. Wolfe and his Skybolt will also dazzle from the sky as a part of the aerobatic demonstration adding, "if you're ready to take your love of flying to new heights and explore the world of aerobatics, then the Steen Skybolt is the airplane to do it!"

Additionally, a Gulfstream G280 and Embraer Praetor will also be on display from 9:00a.m. – 5:00p.m.

Aviation Day Can't Miss Events:

- "Top Gun" Supercycle Class at 7:00 and 9:00 a.m.
- "Spot-Landing Demonstration" at 12:30 p.m.
- Scenic Flights available for purchase.
- Flight Simulator
- Just Plane Painting at 2:00 p.m.

Great Decisions Iran at a Crossroads

What is the future for relations between Iran and the U.S.?

By the fall of 2022, Iran was in a state of turmoil due to widespread protests against government-enforced wearing of the hijab, a failing economy, an ineffective new president, and the looming succession of the country's leader, Ayatollah Khamenei. Abroad, renewal of the Iran nuclear deal seemed doubtful and tensions remain high between Iran, Israel, and Arab states. Many Iranians have lost hope of a better future, and the country seems at a crossroads. How should the United States deal with it?

Join Dr. Jeffery Morton on Wednesday, March 29 at 5 p.m. at the Cultural Center as he delivers his complimentary virtual lecture on Iran at a Crossroads in the Foreign Policy's Association's virtual series.

Your support of the All Charities Weekend strengthens entities, like the Cultural Center, that enhance Ocean Reef Club's Unique Way of Life and enables the Ocean Reef Community Foundation to provide for thousands in Key Largo, Homestead and Florida City. Call 305-367-5996 to learn more.

year. Once the final note has been sung and the last drone lands on the Range (yes, drone! Read more below.), make your way from the Driving Range to the Fishing Village where the party continues with a variety of food trucks and the Burgee Bar open for late-night dining and socializing. Entry into the Fishing Village event is complimentary for all (no ticket necessary) with food and drinks available for purchase.

On the Driving Range

Now, it's 6 p.m. and Country Night on the Range is just beginning! The most anticipated event of the weekend will be four hours (6-10 p.m.) of festival-style fun with live music from three fantastic entertainers, and food and beverages available for purchase. Though, for those who purchase the $225+pp tickets (21 and up), all of your food and beverage will be included.

Members can expect an easy breezy atmosphere. Each ticket will be general admission so there will be no assigned seating. Bring a picnic-style blanket or lawn chair and post up alongside friends and family, or snag one of the many tables or chairs set up by the Club (first come, first served). What ensues will be three special, live performances by...

20 Ride (Zac Brown Tribute Band):

This Zac Brown Band tribute band is back by popular demand, after wowing Members last year during their Thank You Celebration performance. From traditional country to Caribbean rhythm and more, 20 Ride will perform the best music Grammy award-winning Zac Brown Band has to offer – like "Chicken Fried," "Toes," and "Highway 20 Ride" (any guess where 20 Ride's name came from?!). This tribute band is so good, Saturday's Country Night will be easy breezy fun on the Driving Range! You can even bring your own picnic-style blanket, like the Escobar family did during last year's Thank You Celebration, to enjoy the festival and live entertainment.

you're sure to be left thinking that Zac Brown himself was on stage on the Driving Range.

Lauren Alaina:

Following 20 Ride will be a performance by Lauren Alaina. If you're an American Idol fan, you probably know just who we're talking about. Lauren Alaina was the runner-up on the 10th season of American Idol, which aired in 2011, and has since fostered a successful music career. Over the past 12 years, she has released three popular albums, has had several of her songs make it on the Billboard charts, and was even inducted into Nashville's Grand Ole Opry. Look forward to her hits like "Road Less Traveled," "Getting Over Him," and "Like My Mother Does."

Brett Young:

The final performance of the evening will be none other than hit American country pop singer Brett Young. Young spent 13 years trying to make it in music before finally landing his first record deal in 2015. Now, he's a country music star who won the 2018 Academy of Country Music New Male Vocalist of the Year Award (plus many various nominations from CMT, Billboard, CMA and more), and has had seven songs reach number one on the charts - "In Case You Didn't Know" (5X PLATINUM), "Mercy" (3X PLATINUM), "Sleep Without You" (PLATINUM), "Like I Loved You" (PLATINUM), "Here Tonight" (PLATINUM), "Catch" (PLATINUM) and "Lady" (PLATINUM) – all of which he'll likely perform on the Driving Range.

But wait, there's more! Following Brett Young's performance, ticketholders will turn their backs to the stage and awe in a one-night-only drone show. If you missed last year's (and even if you didn't!!), this spectacular show will undoubtedly amaze. Once the drones touch down, it's time for the celebration to return to the Fishing Village for the After Hours Party.

As you can see, the Burgee Jubilee promises to be a memorable weekend for all generations. A worthy celebration of where Ocean Reef humbly began as a Club, to the outstanding community it has grown to become now after 75 years. In fact, maybe in another 75 years, your grandchildren and great-grandchildren will be reading about this historical celebration weekend. It's sure going to be one for the history books!

COUNTRY NIGHT TICKET INFORMATION

Introducing Huntley Brown... Again!

by Rev. Dr.
Bob Henley

Here's a question for trivia buffs. It's not one you'll likely find in the New York Times Crossword Puzzles. Some local Ocean Reef knowledge is required. The question is this. "Who was the guest artist and speaker in the Chapel at Ocean Reef three years ago this month when COVID-19 restrictions were first implemented?"

The answer of course is in the header – it was the Jamaican-born artist, author, and pastor, Huntley Brown.

Coping with COVID-19

It was a morning I'll never forget. The sun was shining brightly as we gathered in the beloved old chapel. The brave souls who attended that morning had to sit six feet apart, in alternating rows of pews. A TV monitor stood outside with twenty or so chairs under the trees facing it in the parking lot. We thought some might want to attend but prefer to stay out of an enclosed space.

The morning proved to be our first attempt at streaming a service. I asked our admin person at the time, Claudia Romero, if it could be done? She replied, "I think so!" And with that, and her iPhone, it marked the beginning of an online presence for our worship services. (We've become more proficient, but the iPhone is still the camera of choice!)

It's amazing how much can change in such a short period of time – three years. While the COVID-19 virus is still lurking, the restrictions are thankfully, a distant memory. But for those who lost a loved-one during that time, the grief, like the tide, still ebbs and flows.

Now three years later, we gather weekly during the season in the beautiful new Ocean Reef Chapel and Fellowship Center. For each of our four congregations, and the groups who meet there, it is becoming our familiar new home.

Why bring all this up? The answer is simple. Huntley's coming back! He will be our worship leader and guest speaker this Sunday, March 26th, in the 9 a.m. service. And in case you've forgotten, let me remind you why Huntley is a such a special guest!

Huntley's Journey

Huntley Brown is an internationally acclaimed pianist, author, and martial arts black belt. A native of Jamaica, Brown grew up in a Christian home. Without knowing how to read music, he learned to play the piano by imitating his brothers and his father who played the accordion and on a small piano. Mostly, he learned by listening to different recordings.

After graduation from high school, he played keyboard in hotel bands and piano bars in Jamaica. Dissatisfied with the club scene, he dedicated his life to Christ and began to seek God's direction for his life.

That decision led him to the United States, where he earned a bachelor's degree from Judson University in Elgin, Illinois, and a master's degree from Northern Illinois University in DeKalb. While at Northern Illinois University, Brown met Annette Chestnut, a fellow Caribbean student from Barbados. Following graduation, he and Annette were married. They reside in Aurora, Illinois, have four daughters.

Huntley's Credits

Huntley's passport is a record of all the places his music and speaking ministry has taken him through the years. He has been seen and heard through television, on radio, and in concert appearances in Austria, Bahamas, Barbados, Canada, China, England, Estonia, France, Germany, Grenada, Holland, Hong Kong, Hungary, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Indonesia, Japan, Jordan, Latvia, Lithuania, Romania, Russia, Palestine, Singapore, South Africa, Singapore, South Korea, Spain, St. Maarten, St. Vincent, Slovakia, Switzerland, Taiwan, Ukraine, and Wales.

Here at home, he has performed from coast to coast in major congregations and events. For many years, Huntley was the artist in residence for the Total Living Network in Chicago with host Jerry and Shirley Rose. He was also a lecturer and performer at the First International Gospel Music Festival in Italy and has worked with the Billy Graham association.

Huntley is a major recording artist with thirteen CDs to his credit, in a variety of musical styles. One person described Huntley's musical gifts saying, "Huntley plays as if God is whispering in his ears."

You're Invited

On this coming Sunday morning, the seats will not be six feet apart, and there will likely be no empty rows. We will all finally be able to enjoy Huntley's gifted artistry and his engaging preaching – in person. We will be blessed by the way Huntley's love for our God shines through his life. It will have been worth the wait! Hope to see you there at 9:00 AM this Sunday!

Opportunity to Hear About Exploring Mars with the Curiosity Rover

By Sarah A. Cart

The Ocean Reef community is invited to hear geologist John Grotzinger talk about "Mars Rover Mission: Challenges, Teamwork, Leadership" at the Cultural Center from 4 to 5 p.m. Tuesday, March 28. The free event will be followed by a complimentary wine and cheese gathering.

Dr. Grotzinger, a member of the U.S. National Academy of Sciences, is the Harold Brown Professor of Geology and division chair for Geological and Planetary Sciences at the California Institute of Technology. A field geologist, his interests include the evolution of sedimentary basins, hydrocarbon reservoir systems, and the robotic exploration of Mars.

His research addresses the chemical development of the early oceans and atmosphere, the environmental context of early animal evolution, and the geologic factors that regulate sedimentary basins. Studies of the basic geologic framework of northwest Canada, northern Siberia, southern Africa, and the western United States are a starting point for more topical laboratory-based studies. Because Mars and Earth are thought to have had similar early climates and geologic conditions, his work on the early Earth may help guide the analysis of early environments on Mars.

He strives, as he notes, "to make sure my work stays interesting and fun by finding new problems to work on, new countries to work in, and new colleagues to interact with. The Mars Exploration Rover (MER) mission provides me with all of this," and he envisions "planetary exploration as a time machine. Planets like Mars are (literally) in a frozen state of development and provide glimpses of what the Earth may have looked like billions of years ago."

"I still find it hard to believe that we can so precisely land a vehicle on another planet and then ask it to do many of the same things that we do here in earth. It's thrilling to imagine it collecting data on Mars," and he observes that the process requires balancing short-term vs. long-term objectives, concluding, "It's the bite-size discoveries along the way that keep momentum up to deliver on the long-term plan."

As for the importance of exploring Mars, he hypothesizes that "the early history of Mars is likely to have been very similar to that of Earth. So it's possible we may gain insight into processes that operated early on for both planets."

Prior to moving to Caltech in 2005, Dr. Grotzinger spent 18 years as a member of the faculty at MIT. Between 2007 and 2014 he served as the Chief Scientist for NASA's Curiosity Mars rover mission for which he received NASA's Distinguished Public Service Medal in 2013.

A Modern Fable told by Ed Hajim

by Susan Bohan

In "The Island of the Four P's: A Modern Fable About Preparing for Your Future", Member Ed Hajim has written a follow-up to his bestseller, "On the Road Less Travelled", in the form of a fable. Geared toward the individual ready to begin a career or in need of a change in direction, he invites the reader on a quest for what is important. As he explains, "It is a fable about the huge, scary challenge we all face: carving our path to success and happiness. It uses fiction to capture the truth of human experience – our striving and yearning, our courage, joys and fears.

The strength of the book is that its very meaningful points are masked in a non-preachy tone. He admits there are many ways to find success and that luck is not to be overlooked. But his 4 P's, which he has lived by, can be adapted easily if you are open to them.

The first P is Passion. The protagonist learns from his mentor, "they will be the basis for goals you set and the energy and determination you derive from them will enable you to overcome obstacles and disappointments."

The second P is Principles and its 4 most important components: Self, Family, Work and Community "help define the kind of person you are and the way you live your life."

The third P is Partners. Ed and I discussed this section the longest and in most depth. The book discusses a partner's importance but whether in personal life or business, these form the integral part of how you successfully navigate your life. He commented that once he knew his strengths, he always looked for people who had different skill sets from himself.

The fourth P is Plans that include what he believes are the 4 main drivers in life and its inevitable changes: Economics, Government, Demographics and Technology. He also points out the consistent pattern of change or an "S" curve. The rise and fall of real estate, swings in the stock market and agricultural cycles are just some examples he discusses that can change a planned trajectory.

I tried not to give the complete storyline away but hopefully you can see how Ed Hajim's thought process made him the successful man he became in business and in life. It was not an accident. He also humbly acknowledges those who helped with this book. He has created a "soft sell" on how organizing a life around the above principles and even used names and organizing tools based on names Classics scholars will recognize!

Upon first read, the book seemed lighthearted. But on slowing down and pausing to digest the ideas, it rings with truths and lessons brimming over with deep seeded concepts perfect to read for yourself or gift anyone you know who finds themselves at a crossroads!

The book will be released on April 4 in bookstores but available now for preorder on Amazon.

Help ORCA Emergency Responders Before They Arrive

Presentation Offers Advice Important to All

By Cynthia Weglarz, Dr. Frank Gudicello & Ron Sekura

The Ocean Reef ForgetMeNots, a caregiver support group, sincerely thank Captain Albert Alvarez and Fire-Medic Javier Fernandez of the Ocean Reef Community Association Public Safety Department for coming to their March 14th meeting at the Medical Center. The two Fire-Medics presented a very educational review of the crisis calls they respond to on The Reef. They emphasized how all of us are important members of the response team in these challenging situations. There are important things we can do before help arrives.

These two experienced Fire-Medics immediately engaged the audience with their approach of asking everyone to name the symptoms for each crisis, starting with heart attacks, then moving onto stroke, dangerous low sugar levels, allergic reactions, bleeding and choking. Both caregivers and care receivers were able to name symptoms but after just naming one, the officers would ask, "what is the first thing you will do" and it was "Call 911 and always immediately tell the call taker that you are calling from Ocean Reef. This is important because sometimes the ORCA Dispatch call taker will be managing another emergency and unable to answer a 911 call. When this happens the 911 call is routed to Monroe County Dispatch. To avoid confusion and ensure a timely response, always immediately tell the call taker that you are calling from Ocean Reef. If there was anything the audience learned last Tuesday, it was "Call 911". But we learned so much more. The Fire-Medics demonstrated CPR on adult and child mannequins after checking for evidence of breathing and pulse. They showed how to give the Heimlich maneuver for choking, apply pressure for bleeding, and give a sugary drink to someone showing serious signs of low sugar levels but still able to talk.

The ORCA Public Safety Fire-Medics recommended that caregivers take the complimentary CPR/AED class offered periodically by their department. Call Call Patty Benitez, Ocean Reef's Training & Compliance, for dates and registration at 305-367-5965.

Academy students love field trips around The Reef. Recently, the toddlers and Pre-K classes visited the Nature Center and enjoyed meeting with Jeanette Rivera, Ocean Reef Naturalist. Our Newest Swimmers

By Jerome Murphy, Head of School

The Academy at Ocean Reef, in partnership with Ocean Reef Club, is delighted with our new "learn to swim" program for early elementary students.

The program is designed to make swim lessons an exciting and fun experience for our younger children. During the first week of learning in the pool, instructor Ms. Sue focused on helping the children become comfortable and confident in the water. This included teaching the children how to put their faces in the water, blow bubbles, and the beginning stages of floating on their backs. Overall, the

by Jody Steele

Ocean Reef Club has now welcomed over fifty students from international culinary schools in the past few years to complete their internship program. These students hail from countries such as Mexico, South Africa, and Turkey. The enormous change is that the internship is for twelve months rather than the much shorter training allowed in the past. This is a "win-win" situation for our Culinary Department and for

Recently, I met with Chef Jared Reardon, Executive Chef, and Tammy Adams, Assistant Director of Human Resources and International Staffing, to review this exciting staffing development. Working with agencies that represent these schools, Ocean Reef Club is able to attract exceptional undergraduates that are searching for high quality training. Chef Jared explained that once the students arrive they choose their culinary passion and are placed either in one of our restaurants or the Commissary kitchens to work with the chefs and team for a year. During those months they develop extensive skills at a number of levels within that particular environment.

The benefits for the Club and these students are impressive. Tammy explained how the students that are coming from these schools are top-notch and serious about their careers. Chef Jared appreciates the consistent staffing that enables the culinary team to train these aspiring chefs for a year. This training plan is "life changing" for the students as their skills grow to a high level of excellence.

Part of the curriculum requirements includes a final exam that requires the student chef to plan a menu, create the meal, and serve their prepared cuisine near the end of their internship. Chef Jared and Tammy proudly shared the results of one of these events where Fernanda Villafane, a student from Merida, Yucatan, dazzled the guests from Club management.

On another note, this program brings students that not only blossom into superb chefs, but also do have the opportunity to return to Ocean Reef Club after graduation. Again, this is another way our Human Resource Department is working with our Culinary team to attract and train employees for future staffing needs. We certainly all benefit from this dedicated effort between these two departments.

Genealogy Enthusiasts Make Fascinating Finds

By Annie Miles, Member since 1999

Have you ever wondered what your great-grandparents were like or what they experienced over 100 years ago? I recently discovered that my maternal great-grandfather, Valentino Azzopardi, left his home on the island of Malta in 1913 for a trip to Alexandria, Egypt, at age 29. How? Because I now have a copy of his passport! This was just one of many discoveries made by Ocean Reef Members who took this spring's genealogy course offered by the Art League.

Professional genealogist and long-time enthusiast of this topic, Tamara Hallo, returned to the Art League to again lead the class. She has eight years of experience as a professional genealogist and has researched her own family for over 18 years. Hallo is currently president of the Genealogical Society of Greater Miami (GSGM). She also teaches courses relating to the various vehicles available online to enhance an individual's research and get full benefit of what is available. Her vast knowledge, enthusiasm and passion for the field is contagious and inspiring. Reflecting on her personal family research, Tamara said it has made her the person she is today. "Once you know the stories... that brings a reality to a person that you never knew. It's hard to make that connection with an ancestor, when you don't have their stories. You connect to them, but on a different level." She encouraged the class to interview living relatives and forage boxes in attics and basements of older family members for letters and documents, emphasizing that genealogy is so much more than dates and names.

Class member and avid genealogy researcher Marcia Ryon enrolled in this class for a second time to continue her studies. She explained, "Although I had already been doing genealogy, Tamara led me to open a lot more doors. I found the manifest of when my great-grandfather arrived in Baltimore!" Marcia also said she enjoyed being with her classmates and hearing about everyone else's research.

One particularly fun moment in this year's class was the day when one class member discovered that she and our instructor were related! None of us could believe that coincidence and we shared their excitement in this discovery that is one of the incredible perks of doing ancestry research.

Jean Reed had her own success story as a rookie in genealogy research. "I signed up for the course to see if I could verify hand-written research from 1981 that related to my mother's family tree and traced her ancestry back to the 1500s. I was amazed each week by the amount and type of information Tamara explained could be found online. By the end of the class, I found an online match for the entire 1981 family tree! I am off to a great start, thanks to this course."

For some, including myself, the class was a chance to quit procrastinating and begin the quest of finding family members of the past. Lee Westervelt admitted, "I had intended to start researching my family tree for years. The Art League's genealogy class gave me a jump start, and all the tools necessary to begin my project."

Although I have verified dozens of relatives on my paternal family tree, I personally still face a challenge on my mother's side as many records were destroyed in Malta during the devastation of WWII. Despite the challenges, I am determined to keep digging and unlock my past. As a Chinese proverb suggests, "To forget one's ancestors is to be a brook without a source, a tree without a root." Maybe it's time for you to get started?!

Member Diane Hill confesses, “I use TeamReach all the time, mostly to see who is available for pickleball or a game of canasta. All my friends downloaded the app. I find it easier than group texts and I receive an alert on my phone when someone wants to set up a game.”

The interface is easy; find directions by tapping on the Settings Gear Icon or the Account icon then the Support & Feedback tab to visit the FAQs page (Frequently Asked Questions) for help with setting up groups, and other features.

Once you have created

Click on the Write Message space to easily create a poll with any question (i.e. “What time should we play?” “What restaurant should we go to?”) and a space to write your own multiple-choice answers to find the best time or place to meet or play. Reach for TeamReach every time you want to have some fun!

the expression “herding cats” is first attributed to an opening dialogue in the 1979 film, Monty Python’s The Life of Brian. It was further popularized in a “Cat Herder” Superbowl commercial in 2000. Watch it for a good laugh! <https://youtu.be/hx1jdgTs03U>.

CLUB SHOPPING

Joan the Shopper Tennis (& Pickleball) Pro Shop

My Picks for Pickleball

One of the endearing things about pickleball is that it has accelerated the "on court" Dress Code revolution. White is a thing of the past. Sleeveless shirts in vivid colors are routine. Shorts have been eased out by skorts, often enhanced by ruffles and pleats....The happy result: the Pickleball crowd (which includes a lot of tennis-switch-hitters) now has the choice of an amazing selection of Pickleball clothes and accessories at Ocean Reef's Tennis and Games Center's well-stocked Pro Shop....I had a ball (though not a Pickleball) choosing the items featured in my photo montage. Admittedly the shopping part was a lot more fun, than putting together the illustration on my computer What follows is some info on the combined efforts of Mac and me Left to Right: Pink Pickleball Tote is designed to carry your paddle, and your usual necessities – comb, brush, make-up, sun block, golf cart key. It is called the OLITH Kitchen Sink P&P Tote – I can't imagine why – $150.... Tervis Water Bottle is decorated with balls and an Ocean Reef Burgee. Guaranteed to keep you hydrated after a strenuous game ($45).... Ocean Reef Paddle How can you lose with the official OR Paddle bearing our Club's burgee ($95) Swing Skort is very Pickleball – trendy and a little edgy, a new look for a new game LIJAH ($110) Cyber Tee combines style and technology ($100). It pairs nicely with the skort, which is more on the wild side. Lots of attractive tees at the Tennis Center, many in shades of burgundy or purple.... Pickleball Hat caps it all ($60). The strong lettering makes sure you aren't accidentally assigned to a tennis court.... Last Word: Pickleball at Ocean Reef is a really big dill.

Top-Selling Dry Shampoos at The Spa

“Spa Notes”
by Jillian Barron, The Spa Director

With it being Spring Break week, and summer getting closer, I have been reminded this week of just how much I love my dry shampoo and how much of a staple it is to have around. My kids have also been spending a lot more time outdoors, and we have pulled out the dry shampoo this week to use on them too!

For most people, dry shampoo is used maybe once or twice per week, and usually, the intention is to prolong the need to wash your hair by a day or two. Although dry shampoo does not actually “wash” your hair, it works to absorb oil and refresh your hair for a clean look and feel and serves as an “aesthetic cleanse” to give hair volume and bounce. Most are formulated with rice starch or corn starch, silica, or witch hazel, and they can do a great job masking buildup and slightly prolonging the need to wash. For those who have difficulty washing their hair, or need help to quickly have a freshly washed look, Dry Shampoo is an amazing home maintenance product to have around! For those who have not yet tried dry shampoo before, and are interested, I thought I would share some of our top-selling dry shampoos and hair powders so you can learn more about them. Dry shampoos come in many different forms, including spray, powder and mousse.

Amika Perk Up Dry Shampoo: The Number One Prestige Dry Shampoo in the US*

This is my personal favorite! It creates volume overnight, absorbs oil, smells AMAZING, and it truly does make my hair look like I just had a blowout. You have to try it if you have not! This is for all hair types.

Why it's special?

- Infused with nutrient-rich sea buckthorn and natural rice starch, it is the ultimate miracle worker between wash days by giving your hair a freshly-washed look.
- No white residue: the talc-free formula even leaves dark hair without a trace of white residue.
- Absorbs oil and reduces odor: they ditched the standard aluminum starch for natural rice starch to absorb oil.
- Restores volume: brings flat hair back to life and provides a voluminous ‘oomph’ without feeling gritty.

Oribe Gold Lust Dry Shampoo

Extend your blowout and prevent damage with Oribe’s transformative dry shampoo. Absorbs product buildup, oil and impurities with translucent powders while soothing the scalp and restoring strength and softness. Fragrance-retention technology means their signature scent stays with you all day. Shake well, spray 8-10 inches from the scalp, and tousle with fingers or brush through until the product is completely absorbed for a clean, weightless look and feel.

Moroccan Oil Dry Shampoo Dark and Light

Moroccanoil® Dry Shampoo Dark and Light Tones contain ultra-fine, oil-absorbing rice starch that removes buildup and odor, leaving hair feeling instantly clean and refreshed. Its UV-protecting, argan oil-infused formula breaks down instantly, leaving no dull residue and maintaining the natural richness of your hair color and tone. Shake well, and spray 6-8 inches from dry roots. Let dry and then massage into scalp as you would with wet shampoo, then brush out.

If you need help deciding which is best for you, feel free to stop by the Spa! We will be happy to offer advice on which dry shampoo would be the best for your hair.

Choose & Cherish Chapter of the Questers' Recent Trip to Miami

By Linda Noble, Member since 1993

Our Questers went on an outing this past Tuesday for a day in Miami Beach. Our first stop was a personal tour of the Wolfsonian FIU museum located in the heart of the Art Deco District. The main task of the museum is to demonstrate the great power of influence of design and art on human culture. We learned about the Cuban music influence on the US during the 20s and later when many US travelers made their way to Cuba for spectacular entertainment. It was during prohibition and Cuba was only 70 miles away. We all know Lucy and Ricky but thanks to the popularity of this 1950's television sitcom, Cuban music became widely known in the United States.

We left the museum doing the conga for a few blocks to our lunch destination, Mango's, they say it's the hottest night spot on South Beach. We enjoyed the sights of spring break along South Beach, maybe even more than the delicious lunch. We need to plan an evening trip in the future.

CSSC Mills-Metcalf Series Race Day #1 / Bull's & Eye's

By Currie Wooten, CSSC Vice Commodore

On Saturday, March 18, some folks were busy celebrating St. Patrick's Day in the Fishing Village, while a hearty group of sailors were jockeying around the start line on the west side of Pumpkin Key in Card Sound. This day was the start of our Mills-Metcalf Series where we split the scoring for the fleet in two, the Bull's and the Eye's. This split fleet approach gives the opportunity for sailors who are not regularly at the top of the fleet to compete in the Eye's for race wins and great finishes with other similarly skilled sailors. So we had 9 boats sailing out of Bakers Harbor to compete in 4 races.

Bert Winchester and son-in-law Alex, 1st place in the Eye's category.

Gary Sayia and Jack Lampman, 1st place in the Bull's category.

The forecast had been mixed with varying amounts of medium to high winds, but Saturday morning early the winds were extremely light to none. However, by race time the winds filled in to a steady breeze and the race conditions were excellent with a little chop and no gusts above 15mph which allowed spinnakers to be flown.

The captain and crew on the race committee boat and auxiliary boats are so important to the sailing club. They decide whether the conditions are safe and then determine the positions of the course for the race and then call and run the race. They monitor the race for safety and infractions, call the finishes, then tabulate the results and give out the awards.

This Saturday morning at nooners (our social get-together after the race), members of the Race Committee, Natasha Price and Mary Heffner, were very busy giving out rewards as we had winners in each category. So the pictures tell the story.

Glenn and Anne Gormley came in 2nd place in the Eye's.

Bert Winchester and son-in-law, Alex, came in 1st in the Eye's.

Windsor Coffin and Erin Coffin came in 3rd place in the Bull's and also got Most Improved.

Neil Sullivan and James Maida came in 2nd place in the Bull's.

Congratulations to Gary Sayia and Jack Lampman for winning 1st place in the Bull's.

Everyone had such a great time at nooners and stayed for fun conversation. The first place winners of both categories, who stay to help cleanup, eventually nudged everyone to finally head home.

Stop by on a Saturday at noon to join the fun with CSSC or contact our member chair, Gary Sayia (201-919-7432) or our Commodore, Bill Reynolds (614-296-7592).

A Busy End of Season Ahead for Bonefish Bonnies

by Sarah A. Cart

A few quick notes for the Bonefish Bonnies as the end of the season approaches:

The traditional tournament: Those members who have signed up to compete in the third and final tournament of the season, the Flats, are reminded to attend the Flats Captains' and Anglers' Meeting from 5 to 6:30 p.m. Thursday, March 30, in the Passive Park on Sunrise Cay. The tournament itself, chaired by Jeannie Schiavone and Linda Falk, will take place on Monday, April 3. A scoring and awards cocktail reception will follow that evening in Carysfort Hall's Sailfish Room and Terrace.

Kudos to wonderful instructors and tradition: Special thanks to Mona Brewer and Heather Post for providing a great introduction to fly casting in the park on Sunrise Cay on March 8.

Among the many positive comments was a note about "How nice it was to carry on the Bonnie tradition of Prosecco and strawberries on the lawn when the lesson was over."

Cheers to Nancy Zakon:

Bonefish Bonnies, ORC friends and her family enjoyed themselves at the reception on Tuesday evening, March 14, at Key Largo Anglers Club recognizing her having been honored with the 2023 Izaak Walton Award from the American Museum of Fly Fishing, which was established in 1968 to preserve the rich heritage of fly fishing. Other icons previously honored include Paul Dixon, Flip Pallot, Tom Rosenbauer, Rachel Finn, Jim Klug, James Prosek, Tom Davidson, and Ed Jaworowski.

The award reads:

*The Izaak Walton 2023 Award
Nancy Zakon
Honoring her passion for the sport of fly fishing
as a Teacher, Industry Trailblazer, Mentor,
Innovator and Philanthropist
Presented by the American Museum of Fly Fishing*

Lastly, on April 5, the Bonnies will hold their Annual Meeting and final monthly membership luncheon of the season in the Butterfly Garden at Key Largo Anglers Club. Check-in will begin at 10:45 and the day's festivities will conclude by 1 p.m. Reservations are due March 31; RSVP and payment details will appear in this Sunday's issue of the Bonnies' email newsletter, Tight Lines.

Bonnie FAQs:

The Bonefish Bonnies have been enjoying fishing fun and friendship-expanding adventures via monthly luncheons, educational programs, travel adventures and local tournaments since 1999. The group is open to all women of Ocean Reef and Key Largo Anglers Clubs and their mothers, daughters or granddaughters. Individual events are priced separately, and newcomers are welcome to join any time throughout the season.

Continued Light Wind Challenges on the Pond

By Windsor D. Coffin, CSMYC Commodore

As I mentioned in last week's article, early forecasts were predicting a change in the Sunday weather pattern. We hoped we would move away from the light wind days that had been in place for quite a few successive Sundays to breezier conditions. But the conditions we found this past Sunday morning were anything but breezy. On the positive side there was no rain, just more of the same light wind conditions for another Sunday.

While the wind was light, we did have enough to race... eventually. A 15-minute delay was called from our usual 10:00 a.m. start time while we waited for the wind to come up. In the meantime, we had to reset the race buoys due to a shift in the wind from a light east-northeast, to a more north-northwesterly direction. This was not in the forecast, but we adapted. However, after one race the wind shifted back to the forecasted north-northeast which required yet another resetting of the course. Between waiting for the wind and the multiple course resets, we were one hour into our allotted time on the pond and had only completed one race. So, by reducing the number of laps per race after Race #1, coupled with a little cooperation from Mother Nature, who gave us just enough wind to keep racing, we were able to complete our five-race schedule. Much like the recent Sundays, the course conditions were challenging. Random wind shifts and random patches of no wind meant that continued momentum was the key to success. At the end of the racing day, the top two sailors tied on points which required going to the second tiebreaker determined by the winner of the final race. After applying the tiebreakers, the winner of the day was yours truly, Windsor Coffin, as I won the final race of the day. In second place was Al Mast who had two firsts and two thirds, just like I did, but Al finished third in the final race.

Rounding out the top three, and only a couple of points behind, was Joe Robillard.

Looking towards this coming Sunday, its looking like the light wind Sunday pattern that we are in will continue. It is fortunate that our East Coast 12 Meter model yachts require very little wind to get going, but a break from the current pattern with stronger more consistent winds would certainly be welcome.

The Card Sound Model Yacht Club races every Sunday (except Easter Sunday) until the end of April at "the Pond." So, swing by the Buccaneer Island lagoon if you are curious or have questions. Racing begins at 10:00 a.m. Our sailors are always willing to discuss our racing model yachts and, for interested sailors, there are even a few currently available for sale here at Ocean Reef. If you would like more information about our model yachting club and our EC12 model yachts, please contact me, Windsor Coffin, at csmyc12@gmail.com.

Two Big Tournaments in the Books

"From the Gold Tees" by Michael Leone, Director of Golf

9 Hole LGA Member-Guest "All That Glitters"

Thursday was a beautiful day for our "All That Glitters" themed Member-Guest! This year, we had the largest field ever for a 9 Hole Member-Guest with 92 players. Even better, all of our players dressed up in their white, silver and gold themed outfits for the occasion.

The Foursome Scramble format was fiercely contested on both our Front and Back Nine competitions. After "All That Glitter" was settled, only two teams could be named champions. Congratulations to our Front Nine winners with a score of 29 - Corinne Tennent, Michelle Reeder, Jessica Olefson, and Mary Lou Krause. Congratulations also to our Back Nine winners, who won in a scorecard playoff with a score of 28, Tania McCann, Cynthia Doolan, Lesley Cooper and Anne Gormley.

Men's Club Championship

The participants in the 2023 Men's Club Championship had their golf games tested over the two-day tournament, teeing it up from all the way back on both our golf courses. With an abnormal wind on the Hammock Course in Round 1, players were presented with an interesting challenge. It was vital for everyone to keep the ball in play and some players did that more effectively than others. Three of which, strung together a 1-Over-Par round of 72 for the first leg of this two-day tournament. Tim Prete, along with the father/son duo of Phil French and Max French, had the luxury of sleeping in a bit after their impressive first round scores. As the rest of the field took the course in front of this trio, we saw some impressive scores come in off the Dolphin Course in Round 2. In Championship Format, carding a low number on the final day can be essential in winning a tournament as the pressure is off not knowing what is happening behind you. One of these rounds was our Defending Champion Kristian Fortis, who put up a solid round of 76 to pair with opening round 77 for a two day (153) total. In the group behind him was David Schultz who shot the low round of the week with an even-par 71! Although our leaders stayed steady through the back 9, Schultz's round was enough to edge out the field and win the tournament.

Let's all congratulate our 2023 Men's Club Champion, David Schultz, with a two-day total of 145 - (74,71)!

gets from our membership. Combined with the 9 Hole LGA, over 120 ladies came out to raise money for the Breast Cancer Treatment Program at the Open Door Health Center. The focus of this event is to raise money for this great cause, but this does not mean our players would back down from bringing home the victory! A friendly format including mulligans, gimmes and free drop allowed for a tight race with a lot of very low scores! See page 46 for LGA and 9 Hole LGA results.

Join Me on a Kalos Golf Cruise

Over the years, Ocean Reef Club has organized private charter Kalos Golf cruises made up primarily of members and selected friends, which turns out not only to be a great way to travel, but a wonderful way to get to know fellow members.

Based on the success of last September's French Riviera cruise, we have arranged for an Iberian Peninsula Golf Cruise in September 2024.

Whether your preference is to golf or to tour, or a little bit of both, this itinerary has something for you. Along with Card Sound Golf's David Sandberg, we will play some of the finest courses in the region and touring highlights include an ideal balance of culture, history, and culinary tours in Lisbon, Seville, Valencia, and Barcelona.

If you are interested in joining us, feel free to contact me or reply directly to Kalos Golf at 919-942-3464. Several members who sailed in 2022 have already registered for this trip, and we are looking forward to seeing all of you join us in Portugal and Spain in 2024.

Reef Cup Has a History

by Christine Patton, Rod & Gun Club

This year's Reef Cup is complete, and it was a good one. Lots of fish were caught, the weather was challenging, and the participants enjoyed themselves onshore as well as at sea. The size of the field (59 boats) hasn't changed in years. It's always waitlisted and the limitation is more an issue of the size of the onshore activity — the social events run to 500 people — than the offshore. The number of fish caught, 163, was higher than last year, but records of 300+ were set years ago.

The Zifferers and the Catching Z's team, 20 Reef Cup Tournaments on record.

The event is 38 years old, and has seen plenty of changes along the way — it used to be in January, now it's scheduled for March. It was four days, now it's three. Technical innovations like kites have changed scoring systems. But for some participants it's a family tradition, going back years, decades, even to pre-Club buyout days, and they man the boat with sons and daughters, cousins and in-laws. Out of the top five boats, I believe that four were family affairs. All for a trophy and some bragging rights.

Add to the mix the captains and crew, who make critical decisions about where to go, north or south, what depth to fish and exactly where and when. The match up of currents, winds and temperature that promise the baitfish to lure in the sails is a complex and intuitive calculation that decide a boat's fate.

To be honest, there are a lot of winners. In the field of 59 boats and 299 anglers, there are top men, women, junior anglers and each day has its roster of first, second and third best boat or angler. Many of the participants I spoke to were proud to inform me of their being on the top boat of a certain day, or that they were with an angler who caught the most fish on one of the three days. Some reminded me that they won in prior years, even many years ago. But what struck me were the folks who have fished for 20 years (the Zifferers) or 25+ (Tom Davidson, Jr) or even all 38 years, not including the boycott year of 1993 (Ken Reda).

Now that's dedication!

Ocean Reef vs Anglers Club Golf Croquet Invitational Challenge

by William Hinkebein, ORC Croquet Chair

On Friday, March 17th and Saturday March 18th the Ocean Reef vs Anglers Club Golf Croquet Invitational Challenge was held, known as The ORAC.

Six doubles teams from each club played on both courts on both lawns at both clubs on both days.

There were six teams from ORC and six teams from KLAC. Thus this annual event plays up to a total of 36 matches, with the club to reach 19 wins declared the champions.

Some three months of preparation were put into the effort by both croquet clubs: many weeks of seasonal play, coaching, practicing, various tournaments, league play, the team selection process, team practices, watching film, studying technique, mental training, and war room table top strategy sessions.

This event began in 2003 and Anglers incredibly won the first 15 annual matches. However, ORC won three of the next five and were the defending champions going into this 2023 event.

The competitors gathered early to warm up and get ready for the 9 a.m. start of the games. Once it began, the silence was deafening. Great anticipation and nervousness was obvious as well as total focus and concentration.

Some players started out slowly while some began hot. There were some good and some poor shots early. But once things got going after the first few wickets of the first few games, excellent play ensued.

Team Captains William Hinkebein (ORC) and Leslie Phillips (KLAC)

Second Place, Team ORC

Winning Team, Anglers

There were fine set ups, clearing, stop shots, split shots, wicket shooting and even jump shots. This was Golf Croquet played about as good as it can be played at any club in all of Florida, the hot bed of Golf Croquet in the US.

These games are played to four wickets. The first team to four wins the game. Every wicket was fiercely competed.

Several games went to the overtime wicket to be settled and some games lasted longer than the usual 20-30 minutes, some going up to an hour. Many of the games were great defensive struggles.

At the halfway point on Friday, the match was tied at nine games each: ORC 9, KLAC 9.

As the games played out at KLAC and at ORC it slowly became apparent that this was Anglers day.

Ultimately, Anglers began to pull ahead, slowly, one game at a time. When Anglers gained their 10th win of the day it was over. Thus, Anglers Club won the 2023 ORAC.

Congratulations to both ORC and KLAC! This was a Challenge well done.

Thank you Team KLAC for the fine lunch and cocktails after the match. Your hospitality was gracious, sincere and much welcomed.

Special recognition to those teams winning 4 or more games marked with an asterisk below.

Team ORC:

Betsy Caldwell & Ron Sekura
 Carol Blackburn & Susan Reichardt
 Gordana Schneider & Houston Stebbins
 Frank Schneider & Judy Wilson
 *Craig Jones & Alan Thomson
 *William Hinkebein & Mike Love

History of Croquet

The ancestral croquet game was introduced to Britain from France during the 1660–1685 reign of Charles II of England, Scotland and Ireland and was played under the name of paille-maille (among other spellings, today usually ball-mall), derived ultimately from Latin words for 'ball and mallet' (the latter also found in the name of the earlier French game, jeu de mail). This was the explanation given in the ninth edition of Encyclopedia Britannica dated 1877.

There is a long glorious croquet tradition at both ORC and KLAC. Various croquet disciplines have been practiced over the decades. This includes American, Six Wicket and now today's most popular game called Golf Croquet.

Golf Croquet has risen to be the croquet game played by an estimated 80% of all players in the world. This at clubs from Australia, New Zealand, Egypt, England, Ireland, South Africa, the United States and other nations.

There are some 500 croquet clubs in the US. About 200 of those clubs are in Florida. Golf Croquet's 25 year rise and popularity is similar to the Pickleball phenomena, everybody loves it!

In decades past, Ocean Reef croquet has hosted large tournaments with the top professionals in the world. These events were so large and popular, the Inn was full of visiting players and extra temporary croquet courts were cut into the golf course fairways. Card Sound Golf Club once had a beautiful lawn and active croquet club.

20 Habits to Optimize Wellness

“Fitness Focus”
by Luis Bracamonte, Director of Fitness &
Wellness

The best part of life is that no matter how long we live and how much we accomplish, we are perennial works in progress, looking for growth and improvement. Every day that we wake up, we have multiple opportunities to be better than ever before. The improvement game is as long as life itself. Below are 20 habits that optimize wellness.

1. Have a consistent sleep schedule and relaxation practice before bed. This includes meditation, breathwork, light stretching, aromatherapy, and eliminating distractions such as TV or cell phones.

2. Sit less and move often. Our bodies are meant to move. If we do not, we age faster and grow frail. Stay in motion from dawn to dusk.

3. Perform at least three bouts of moderate to high-intensity weekly exercise, lasting at least 20 minutes. Cardiovascular exercise is good for the heart, and what is good for the heart is also good for the brain through increases in oxygen and blood flow.

4. Eat more vegetables. Eating at least five servings of vegetables daily has been shown to prevent certain cancers, lower the risk of heart disease and stroke, and balance blood sugar.

5. Drink less alcohol. Indulge in moderation to increase enjoyment and reduce negative effects.

6. Avoid anger, fear, and other negative emotions as they heighten stress hormones and damage the heart and brain.

7. Reduce stress and improve mental and emotional clarity by practicing deep breathing techniques such as LifeBreath, box breathing, and pranayama.

8. Experiment with cold therapy such as cold plunges, electric cryotherapy, or daily cold showers lasting 30 seconds to 2 minutes for anti-inflammatory and immune-boosting benefits.

9. Spend time in a sauna to enjoy benefits which include reduced joint and muscle pain, detoxification, skin health, heart health, and overall stress reduction.

10. Avoid ultra-processed foods such as those containing hydrogenated oils and artificial foods.

11. Base your diet on whole foods consumed in moderation. The foods you eat, provide the material from which the cells in your body and brain are made. You really are what you eat.

12. Stretch every day. Yoga is one of the best movement practices to increase flexibility and learn stretches to perform daily. Pay particular attention to any body part with previous injury history, as they will likely be re-injured if the range of motion and strength is less than optimal.

13. Practice gratitude and positive thinking. This habit simply requires daily thinking and feeling grateful for all the good things, big and small, in our lives.

14. Practice acts of kindness. Acts of kindness decrease blood pressure and cortisol in the person receiving the action, the person offering the act and the observers of the act. Acting kindly to each other improves the overall quality of life of the entire community.

15. Laugh often. Laughter reduces cortisol and increases oxygen and blood flow to the body, improving heart health. Laughter is medicine.

16. Smile often. When we smile, our brain releases neuropeptides and neurotransmitters such as dopamine and serotonin. Smiling is a mood booster.

17. Drink more water. We often experience fatigue and crave unhealthy foods because we are dehydrated. Besides maintaining electrolyte balance, the benefits of drinking water include regulating body temperature, normalizing blood pressure, flushing bacteria from our bladder, aiding digestion, and carrying nutrients and oxygen to our cells.

18. Strengthen your muscles, bones, ligaments, and tendons with resistance training. Moderate to heavy (relative to each person) weight training is necessary for our bodies to maintain and develop the ability to move optimally as we age.

19. Live with curiosity and a thirst for adventure. The strong desire to learn and experience more lies at the core of the human potential to live the richest life possible. Every day is a new page, and we hold the pen.

20. Be social. Whether you are an introvert, extrovert, or an ambivert, all humans are wired for social connection. Attend lectures, events, play sports and take art and fitness classes; our Club's calendar is exuberant in its options for social connection. The qualities of our social connections are the single most important factor determining happiness and living a fulfilling life.

Live with more energy and joy by adopting habits that improve wellness in every aspect. For guidance and motivation contact the Member Fitness Center at 305-367-5820.

BRIDGE TIP OF THE WEEK

Attacking Notrump Contracts

Passive opening leads

In some situations, you'll want to be patient and make declarer work for all his tricks. Your goal on these hands is to make a safe opening lead that won't give declarer a "cheap" or undeserved trick.

A safe lead may also be an attacking combination -- such as a suit headed by AK, KQJ or QJ10 -- and these are usually good choices for a lead to any contract. If you aren't dealt these easy holdings, you'll sometimes have to select a passive lead. Passive leads include:

- A lead from a topless suit (such as 8762), especially one in which you don't expect partner to hold an honor. When in doubt, lead through strength by choosing a suit dummy (rather than declarer) has bid.

- A lead from length -- such as fourth best from Q9653 or K87432. Even though underleading an honor is standard to a notrump contract, it can be risky against a suit contract. Length, however, gives you a margin of safety. The longer your suit, the less likely it will be that declarer needs to develop his own tricks in that suit.

- A trump, in some cases.

How do you know when a passive lead is your best choice? Here are some of the contracts and types of auctions that call for a safe, non-attacking opening lead:

The opponents are in 6NT or a grand slam.

An exception is if the opponents bid 6NT after an auction that suggests that their main source of tricks will be a long suit. In this case, you may want to make an aggressive opening lead (away from an honor) to try to set up a trick you can cash if you get the lead later.

The auction tells you that declarer has a strong hand and dummy (and/or partner) will be very weak.

Suppose your RHO opens 2NT (20-22 pts.) and LHO raises to 3NT. What's your lead from ♠986 ♥AQ62 ♦KQ43 ♣Q6?

If you follow the "fourth from longest and strongest" rule, you'd choose the ♥2 or the ♦3. But with almost all the outstanding honors on your right, either of these leads has a high risk of giving declarer a gift. Partner can't hold more than 2-3 high-card points, so it's not a good idea to count on him for help in a specific suit.

A more attractive choice is a passive ♠9. This is unlikely to set up tricks for your side, but it probably won't help declarer. You'll be on lead again soon, and if your spade lead was indeed safe, you should consider continuing the suit. If a switch is necessary, you'll have a better idea of which suit to choose later.

Note that you should not lead a diamond honor. A diamond will probably be right only when partner has the ♦J (or the unlikely ♦A), so if you do choose a diamond lead, it's better to lead low (the ♦3). If partner has no honors (declarer and dummy have any combination of the ♦A, J, 10 and 9), leading the ♦K will give declarer three eventual tricks. If you instead lead low, declarer can't take more than two tricks in the suit.
