Gotta Question?

I'm packing up to leave The Reef for the summer and I have some clothing items I'd like to donate. Where is the clothing donation bin located now?

Following the completion of the new Chapel & Fellowship Center, the Chapel Clothing Bin was relocated to a new, permanent home. The donation bin is now located on the east side of the Chapel off Island Drive (see photo).

The Chapel would like to remind Members that the donation bin does not accept any food or household items. Instead, please only donate gently used, bagged clothing and shoes, which will then be distributed to those in need.

EDITOR'S NOTE: If you would like to submit a question, email the Ocean Reef Press at orp@oceanreef.com.

Dolphin Course Re-Grass

Ocean Reef's Golf Course Maintenance Team has been hard at work on the Dolphin Course re-grass project this summer. In the years since its last re-grassing in 2011, the Dolphin Course has endured several storms, including Hurricane Irma, that left many holes underwater for extended periods of time, resulting in significant cross-contamination of the grass. Through this summer's re-grassing project, the Golf Course Maintenance Team is diligently working to combat this cross-contamination in an effort to uphold the world-class standards of our golf courses at Ocean Reef and have the course in optimal playing condition by fall 2023. As demonstrated by the photos of Hole #6, the Team thus far has applied a non-selective herbicide application to the course to kill the grass, began removing one inch of turf and thatch from around fairways, greens and irrigation heads, and are in the process of incorporating one inch of new soil to all areas and finishing the prep work for the first grassing application.

As the transformation continues, you can stay up-to-date with photos of the progress by visiting oceanreef.com/DolphinRegrass, and look for more updates in future editions of the Ocean Reef Press.

Marina Seawall Enhancement

Earlier this month, the first stage of the Marina seawall enhancement project began. The project, which entails replacing 1,100 feet of seawall from the Marina Fuel Dock to H Dock, will improve and greatly extend the life of the seawall for use by our Members and their families for many more years to come. Thus far, D Dock and the Fuel Dock have been disabled, construction has begun, and the Dock Office Team has moved to a temporary location in the Marina Fitness Center lobby. Fuel is available for purchase at MarineMax and a diesel fuel truck is stationed at a temporary G Dock facility from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily.

Completion of the Marina seawall enhancement project is slated for November 2023.

ORCA NEWS

NKLUC to Conduct June Smoke Testing

From June 12 through 30, Members may notice CHA Consulting employees, on behalf of the North Key Largo Utility Corporation (NKLUC) and ORCA Public Works, evaluating Ocean Reef's public sanitary sewers via a method called smoke testing. The crew performing the testing does not need to enter your home. This smoke testing is a safe and necessary procedure to detect whether there are any leaks in the sewer system that would allow unwanted rainwater, groundwater and stormwater to enter the sewer. This proactive testing aids in preventing or fixing any leaks before they have the chance to result in costly damage to the Club's sewer system.

Smoke testing for the western half of the community west of Ocean Reef Drive, which includes the Front Gate, South Harbor Area, Marina Village, Harbor Green, Fairway Lakes, etc., will be from June 12-24.

Smoke testing for the eastern half of the community, east of Ocean Reef Drive, which includes Sunrise Cay, Angelfish Cay, Pumpkin Cay Channel Cay, Cannon Point, etc., will be from June 19-30.

Informative door hangers will be handed out a few days prior to the start of smoke testing in your area.

If you have any additional questions, contact Adrianna at ORCA Public Works at 305-367-7338. Stay tuned for more details from ORCA.

Memberabilia Ocean Reef Dress Code

by Joan Birsh

Featured here: Essentials of the ORC Dress Code. Some of the pictures indicate what to wear. Others, marked with an X, show what is a "NO NO" at Ocean Reef Club.

COLLARED SHIRTS

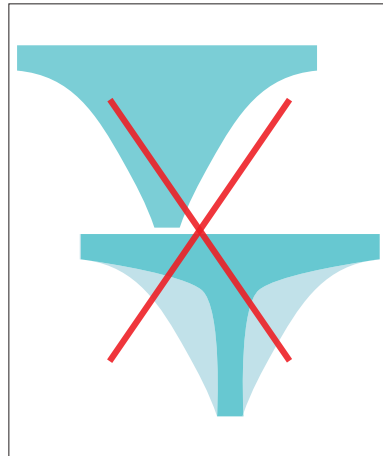

After 5 p.m., men are required to wear collared shirts at most OR restaurants (exceptions - Burgee Bar and Raw Bar). You will also need one for breakfast in the Ocean Room. On the golf courses or the practice range, a "tucked in" collared shirt is the mandatory uniform.

PANTS

For golf, you will need long pants or walking length shorts. And don't dream of wearing your cargo pants on the course.

SWIMSUIT #1

The Ocean Reef Dress Code states that Thong style swimsuits are prohibited. Be aware that by ignoring this rule, not only will you be offending your fellow OR members but you will be asked to leave Buccaneer.

HATS

At ORC we are into "decapitation". So remove your cap when you enter a restaurant or other OR facility. (Exceptions – Raw Bar, Burgee Bar, Grill Room for lunch and Fitness Centers.) Don't ever wear your golf cap backwards.

SHORT SHORT SHORTS

Even if you are young and beautiful, don't wear your Short, Short Shorts anywhere on The Reef.

SWIMSUIT #2

The attractive pink Swimsuit #2 is acceptable under the Dress Code, since (unlike Swimsuit #1) the bikini bottom provides "appropriate coverage."

SLEEVELESS SHIRTS AND TANKS

Sleeveless tops are fine for jogging or for Buccaneer Island. But make sure they are manufactured for athletic wear. If a shirt looks like an undershirt or has some dopey saying on it, then it's a NO NO at ORC.

JEANS

According to the Dress Code, short or long jeans are OK, but please only nice classics. No cut-offs, cutouts, rips or tatters.

COVER-UPS

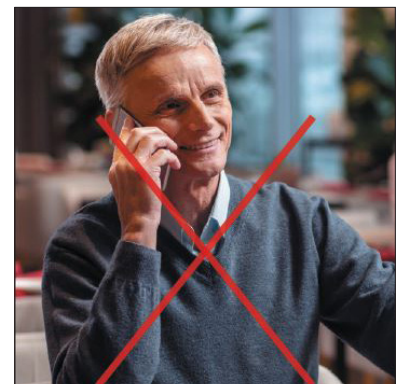

When is a cover-up a good thing? The Dress Code requires Bathing Suit Cover-ups, as well as footwear, be worn in all areas away from Buccaneer Island's beach and pools.

TENNIS, PICKLEBALL, CROQUET

Both men and women should wear appropriate tennis clothing and footwear. (No swim trunks or non-tennis tees.) For Pickleball, fitness attire and footwear are OK. For Croquet, wear all white.

CELL PHONES

It's everybody's most important accessory. But that said, do not talk on your cell in OR restaurants. Same goes for the Fitness Centers.

Don't just look for a place. Discover a home.

As You Enjoy Your Summer Adventures, Please Keep All Charities Weekend in Mind

by Sarah A. Cart

A favor, while you're out and about this summer: Please consider what you can donate NOW to ensure the success of the Silent and Live Auctions to be held All Charities Weekend (ACW), Feb. 2 – 4, 2024. (Yes, that's earlier than the event has ever been).

What are you up to today? This week? This month? Are you having fun? Might it be "auction worthy"? Be creative. Let your imagination run wild. Open your mind and heart to innovative ideas and offerings. Then, when inspiration strikes, don't wait: Call the All Charities office at 305-367-5996; the staff is there to help breathe life into your brainchild.

Through the years, wonderful items and unique Member-curated experiences have helped the Ocean Reef Community Foundation (ORCF) foster miracles. Please consider how you can help keep the miracles coming.

As a Member of the Ocean Reef community, each of us has the power to positively impact the lives of our neighbors in Key Largo, Homestead and Florida City as well as support and strengthen the non-profit entities vital to our "unique way of life" here on The Reef: The Medical Center, Cultural Center, Academy, Art League, ORCAT and Conservation Association. ACW is a chance for us to come together and make a difference, and every contribution – no matter how large or small – can help us achieve our goals.

Why is it so important to donate now, long before the deadline? This season's auction catalog will go to press earlier than ever before. Your contributing over the summer will enable ORCF to leverage other contributions and build momentum toward our fundraising goals. It's a powerful and inspiring message to (and example for) others that you believe in the importance of All Charities and that you're willing to take action to support it.

Plus it's a gracious and generous way to allow the All Charities team the breathing room they need to best present and maximize everyone's contributions for the greater good.

Also, please note, your donation doesn't need physically to arrive in the All Charities office over the summer, just a complete description and an estimate of when the office can expect it.

Results matter. All Charities has raised over $63 million since 2008, enabling ORCF to provide financial grants with an emphasis on youth, education, community, and health and family services. Your donations make a real difference. Additionally, ACW's Preferred Partners provide steadfast support through their cash and auction item donations to ensure that the monies raised at the Silent and Live Auctions enable ORCF to give 100 percent of the donations made by Club

Members to non-profits.

And your participation brings the joy and satisfaction of knowing that you're contributing to something meaningful. So dream.

Brainstorm. Imagine possibilities. Make a difference. Act now.

Call the All Charities office (305-367-5996) to share your ideas. Let's have fun by doing good, and let's get after it before the deadline looms (details on items to be included in the

A Different 'Twofer'

by Rev. Dr. Bob Henley

Usually, the slang term twofer, indicates some kind of bargain. It's the old 'buy one – get one free.' My favorites are when it refers to either pizzas or golf balls. If you've seen me play golf, you'll know why!

But I'm using it in a different way. I'm referring to two events that occur on the same weekend this year. The two events are our national observance of Memorial Day and the significant event in church history known as Pentecost.

If you've read my columns, you've probably surmised by now that I'm what sociologists label a boomer, shorthand for baby boomer. It refers to those of us born between 1946 and 1965. My life began in that first year.

For those of us so fortunate, it also means that we are the children of the men and women who fought and worked during the second world war. My dad was 23 years old when the war ended. He had served for four years in the United States Navy. He was a radarman on a destroyer – the USS Mullany (DD-528). In fact, he was a 'plank holder,' meaning he was on the shakedown cruise out of San Francisco when the ship was launched.

One day in 1944, just off Okinawa, he had left the bridge when a kamikaze took out the forward gun turret on the ship. He survived – barely. When the order was given to abandon ship, he and other shipmates donned their life preservers and jumped into the waters. Did I mention, he didn't swim? He was on the verge of drowning when one of the men grabbed the back of his life jacket and pulled him onboard the minesweeper that rescued them.

My dad and all the other young men who lived and returned home were my heroes. They came home and married, built businesses, played sports, and had families. Their names and faces are etched into my memory.

Etched into their memory were the friends who didn't make it. That's why there was a solemnity on their faces on Memorial Day – a solemnity that I couldn't understand.

Now in my seventies, there is a common thread that runs through the other generations that sociologists have labeled since my birth. That thread is the experience of sons and daughters, husbands and wives, moms and dads, who have seen their loved ones go off to war. The names of the places are different – Korea, Viet Nam, The Gulf War, Afghanistan, Iraq, Somalia, Libya, Syria. The outcome is still the same. Many have come home – many have not.

This weekend has been set aside by our nation to honor those who have died while serving in the armed forces of the United States. It will be observed on Monday, May 29th this year. We will make it a focus in our worship in the chapel this Sunday.

The cost that has been paid is not a bargain – it is a sacrifice that must never be forgotten. Please be sure to set aside time to express your gratitude, to recognize the debt we owe each of them, and their families who have suffered loss.

The other event we recognize this Sunday is called Pentecost. It's not as familiar to many as is Memorial Day. But it is an event of enormous significance, affecting countless lives during the past two millennia, whether it is recognized or not.

Pentecost recalls the outpouring of the Holy Spirit on a roomful of people in Jerusalem, 50 days following the resurrection of Jesus. It marks the completion of the three events that changed the course of history. They are the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus of Nazareth, followed by the day of Pentecost.

The roots of Pentecost run deep in the Hebrew Scriptures of the First Testament, and on every page of the New Testament. Despite this, there is perhaps no aspect of a life of faith more misunderstood, caricatured, or ignored than the person and work of God the Holy Spirit.

Pastors spend a lot of time trying to come up with catchy titles for their sermons. Based on my experience, we're often the only ones who pay any attention to them. But in case you're interested, my sermon title this Pentecost Sunday will be 'A Missing Person Report!' Catchy, huh?

We'll be observing both Memorial Day and Pentecost in our worship at 10 a.m. in the Ocean Reef Chapel & Fellowship Center this Sunday. We'll save a seat for you! Come and join us.

We Mourn the Loss

Peter “Chip” Vandenberg

Pat Vandenberg and Lauren Manley would like to share with the Ocean Reef Community the passing of Peter “Chip” Vandenberg on May 19 after a brief battle with cancer.

He was smart, kind, humble, generous. Truly an inspiration, Chip began working two jobs at the age of 13 and kept the same work ethic his whole life. Loyal and dedicated to his best friend and wife for 53+ years – Pat Vandenberg. He was a very proud father and father-in-law and adored his grandchildren. Many of his favorite times with family were spent in Ocean Reef. His CPA career included Deloitte, KPMG (Peat Marwick), and an amazing 36 years in private equity at Trivest Partners.

Chip showed a deep love for our community, which was evident through the many non-profits he served – including the American Cancer Society, Orange Bowl Committee, 18 years as Board Director, sitting on the Treasurer and Finance and Audit Committees at Camillus House, Association for Corporate Growth, MCVI Board, Zoo Miami Foundation, and All Secure Foundation.

This 6'7" gentle giant will be dearly missed by all who know him. There will be a private celebration of life this summer.

NEWS FROM THE MEDICAL CENTER

Summertime Precautions

Hydration is important any time of the year but becomes more critical during the summer months. You become at risk for dehydration once the body loses water content and essential body salts, such as sodium and potassium. Drinking fluids before starting outside activities is important so you're sufficiently hydrated. Once you feel thirsty you are already behind in hydration levels. Remember your hat, sunglasses, sunblock and lip sunscreen and try to limit strenuous activities to the morning hours.

In cases of mild dehydration, simple rehydration is recommended by drinking fluids. Many sports drinks on the market effectively restore body fluids, electrolytes, and salt. Dehydration can cause blood pressure fluctuations and also affect your heart.

Any case of serious dehydration should be treated as a medical emergency and immediate action should be taken.

Heatstroke is a condition caused by your body overheating, usually as a result of prolonged exposure to or physical exertion in high temperatures. The most serious form of heatstroke can occur if your body temperature rises to 104 F (40 C) or higher. Heatstroke requires emergency treatment. Untreated heatstroke can quickly damage your brain, heart, kidneys and muscles. The damage worsens the longer treatment is delayed, increasing your risk of serious complications or death.

There are some immediate first-aid measures you can take while waiting for emergency help to arrive and include the following:

- Get the person to a shaded area and slightly elevate their feet.
- Remove or open clothing and gently apply cooling water to the skin followed by fanning.
- Apply ice packs to the groin and armpit area if possible.

Hurricane Preparedness

If you are staying at Ocean Reef this summer, be sure to have hurricane supplies and a plan in place. Keep a reminder list of items you need to take with you in the event of an evacuation order. Evacuation for a storm is stressful and it's easy to forget important papers, medicine or other needed items. Consider taking any valuables you don't want to have lost or damaged in a storm.

If you have health conditions that warrant help during an evacuation, please let Public Safety know you are planning on being in residence this summer. Monroe County also maintains a special needs registry for those that meet the criteria. Visit the Monroe County website at www.monroecounty-fl.gov under the Hurricane preparedness and special needs section for further information and registry.

The Medical Center's providers and staff wish you a healthy and safe summer!

All Roads Lead Back to Ocean Reef

By Felicia M. Koretsky
Member Since 2010

In 1974, Michael T. Fay's family had to give up their coveted Ocean Reef Club membership. It would take 30 years before he became a member again.

His father, the late Peter Thorp Fay, a federal judge with the United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit, had back then found himself in a precarious position.

As one of 14 limited partner owners of the Miami Dolphins, the group faced hefty fines by the IRS for back taxes owed due to accelerated depreciation taken on the players. This coincided with heightened scrutiny on federal judges belonging to clubs across the country with limited diversity. This left the judge with no choice, but to pay his portion, a $700K fine, and resign all private club memberships.

"It was a difficult time for us. It nearly wiped us out financially," said Fay, who at the time was attending the McGlannan School in Miami for his dyslexia. Despite their struggles, Fay's parents kept their oldest son in the private school to receive specialized academic learning. "I remember so many nights when the only thing we had for dinner was tuna casserole."

The Miami-based family's ties to football and politics began years earlier.

The elder Fay, once a prominent corporate-political attorney, counted among his clients, businessman Joseph "Joe" Robbie. In 1968, along with a group of investors, including Harper Sibley, Jr., Peter Fay was courted to invest in an expansion football team, the Miami Dolphins. The next year, Sibley and Miami developer Morris Burke, bought The Ocean Reef Club. They invited their Dolphins partners to become members. Soon, the Fays were spending weekends at ORC, shaping the then-six-year-old Michael's childhood memories.

"Seeing successful people and the development of beautiful properties sparked my early interest in real estate," said Fay, now principal owner of a successful global commercial real estate firm and investment company.

Judge Fay was also a longtime friend of former President Richard Nixon and his confidant Charles "Bebe" Rebozo, who owned a villa at The Reef. The Fays would take their boat from Miami to Nixon's "Winter Whitehouse" on Key Biscayne, where they would be greeted by the secret service. Often joining the group were Nixon's White House Chief of Staff Harry Robbins (H.R.) "Bob" Haldeman, Assistant for Domestic Affairs John Ehrlichman, and White House Counsel John Dean, who became infamous for their connection to the Watergate scandal.

The younger Fay remembers joining Nixon on Rebozo's boat, the Coco Lobo III, for an afternoon ride from Key Biscayne to ORC. Nixon's December 2, 1972 official daily diary confirms The President docking at Ocean Reef and staying 3 ½ hours. The day's itinerary details Nixon watching a USC vs. Notre Dame game on TV at Rebozo's house, followed by dinner, and a brief long-distance call to his national security advisor, Henry Kissinger. The President appreciated The Reef's privacy and security, not to mention the tasty cocktails served at Buccaneer Island, he said.

As a teenager, Michael Fay continued joining his family on trips to The Reef, where they were guests for legal conferences. Fay said his father, a scratch golfer, loved playing with the Club's first Director of Golf Bob Toski, whose golf balls would sit on extra-tall tees, each inscribed with the initials "LTFF" (translation: Let The F—s Fly).

The Miamian also recalls sneaking away with friends on his boat to The Reef without parental supervision. While they had a lot of fun, he admits spending most of their time devising ways to dodge security head Sonny Vasquez.

Also visiting The Reef during her high school years, was Paula Stierheim, the youngest daughter of legendary Miami County Manager and public administrator, Merrett Stierheim. While the two didn't cross paths at ORC, they would later be introduced by their parents and swap their memorable Reef tales. The couple have been married 33 years and are parents to Merrett, 25, and Marla, 21.

In 2004, with his wife Paula, Michael Fay fulfilled a childhood goal of becoming a Social Member. A decade later, they cemented their ties to ORC by becoming Equity Members and renewing their wedding vows at the Chapel. Fay also brought back his proud parents, who adopted him and two other siblings as infants from separate families through Catholic Charities Adoption Services.

"My greatest blessing was being adopted," the 59-year-old said.

Fay's father passed away in 2021, at the age of 92. The original fine that cost him his first Club membership was repaid with interest in the 1980s, when the Dolphins won their tax case. Peter Fay was one of only a couple dozen people to date to serve as a federal judge for at least 50 years.

"We love living the wonderful Reef lifestyle, while being fully involved in the community," said Fay, who currently serves as a board member with ORCA and the Medical Center at Ocean Reef. "We enjoy each season at ORC and have made so many great friends. In the summers, we often run into a lot of people we know from Miami."

"The Reef is a very special place for our family," he said. "It means so much to us".

Slam Dunk Binges

By Felicia M. Koretsky
Member Since 2010

My teenage son prefers speaking basketball at home. Fifteen minutes before tip-off, he delivers his pre-game strategy. I wonder. Maybe he should get a consulting job with the NBA to support his four-a-day Prime Hydration drink habit. But I try my best to be conversant. I shake my head when a referee makes a bad call, scream at The Heat's Duncan Robinson for missing an easy three-pointer, and to really impress him, I like bringing up obscure facts.

Did you know Stephen A. Smith has a side gig on General Hospital?

He laughs at me. Calls me a bandwagoner. It's true. It's just not that exciting until it's the playoffs. Improve your basketball I.Q. and analyze some footage, my baller insists. Here are some recent basketball-themed picks. Just not the films he probably meant for me to study.

Air Amazon Prime Video; 1 hour, 54 minutes

Just when you think you've had enough Matt Damon/Ben Affleck team-ups, you come up for Air. Based on a true story, Damon plays Sonny Vaccaro, a 1980s executive in Nike Inc.'s basketball division, which is struggling to compete against sneaker darling, Adidas. Vaccaro is hyper-focused on getting Nike boss Phil Knight (played by Ben Affleck) to invest his entire basketball budget into then-rookie and Adidas-minded Michael Jordan.

But the real story unfolds when Vaccaro courts MJ's business-savvy mother, Deloris Jordan (played by Viola Davis). The partnership ultimately transforms the sports apparel industry and gives way to sports celebrity endorsements and revenue sharing. While the premise of the movie may not sound that rousing, with only seconds of actual hoop playing, it emotes feelings similar to attending a live game. You'll find yourself rooting for the underdog, hating the opposition, and celebrating when your team wins.

While we don't get to hear or see much from Michael himself, we do get a courtside view of the birth of Air Jordan. What started out as an improbable joint venture is now in its 39th year with billions in annual sales.

38 At the Garden HBO Max; 38 minutes

It's been 11 years since basketball fans everywhere went Lin-sane. Former NBA player Jeremy Lin reminisces about his unlikely and spectacular rise to fame as a New York Knicks point guard. The Harvard grad looks back at the pinnacle of his on-court success: Scoring 38 points against the LA Lakers and the late Kobe Bryant at Madison Square Garden in 2012.

Joining Lin, 34, in telling his story are other famous Asian American personalities, including comedians Hasan Minhaj, Jenny Yang, and Ronny Chieng and journalist Lisa Ling. You hear a perspective you may have never considered. The entertaining short also touches on more serious topics, such as the rise of Asian hate crime with the onset of Covid-19.

Lin is currently playing for the Kaohsiung 17Live Steelers in Kaohsiung, Taiwan. But his future as a player is not clear. He's currently recovering from a head injury he sustained during a game earlier this month.

Bill Russell: Legend Netflix; 2 episodes, Total 3 hours, 20 minutes
Nearly a year ago, Boston lost its most celebrated basketball player in Celtics history, Bill Russell, who died at the age of 88.

Netflix's two-part documentary, Bill Russell: Legend, which debuted a few months back, explores Russell's early life, superstar college career at the University of San Francisco, and 11 championships with the Celtics under legendary coach Red Auerbach.

The documentary also focuses on the trailblazer's significant off-court activism and outspokenness for civil rights and social justice. Featured, along with a host of hall of famers, are Bill Russell's daughter, Karen, widow and fourth wife, Jeannine, and Randy and Nancy Auerbach, Red's daughters.

Overtime

We encourage you to dust off your playbook and consider some other good prospects you may have missed:

For a taste of true fascinating basketball scandals, check out Untold: Operation Flagrant Foul, where former NBA referee Tim Donaghy shares his role in a lucrative betting scheme that cost him his career, now on Netflix. Also, take a second look at ESPN's 30 for 30: Playing for The Mob, a documentary that retells the story of a point-shaving scheme during Boston College's 1978-79 season.

For feel-good fiction, watch Netflix's Hustle, starring Adam Sandler. Sandler plays a has-been basketball scout for the Philadelphia 76ers who finds a potential phenom (played by Juancho Hernangomez) hustling pickup games on the streets of Spain. If you missed it, give it a shot.

Finally, for the win. Anyone having any luck scoring ice-pop flavored Prime sports drink? Basketball Moms everywhere are on the hunt for a victory.

Academy Alumni Spotlight

Gabby Gleason

by Jody Steele

Gabby Gleason

Four years ago, I had the pleasure of meeting Gabrielle Gleason right before her graduation from the Academy at Ocean Reef. She had just been awarded a prestigious merit scholarship to Gulliver Schools in Coral Gables. It was an enormous move from the Academy, where she had been since third grade, to a large campus where she knew no one.

Gabby is now graduating cum laude from Gulliver Prep, where she has been an International Baccalaureate student and has studied Biomedical Engineering for her entire four years of high school.

She has excelled in a multitude of other ways and has enjoyed it all. Gabby credits her Academy teachers with personalizing her education, engaging her in active learning experiences, and preparing her for a rigorous curriculum. She expressed the transfer to high school as "I fit right in and was ready to take on the challenges".

The awards kept coming...

Gabby was a cheerleader all four years and just completed her senior year as Cheer Captain.

With 350 hours of community service, Gabby concentrated on becoming a Zoo Miami Conservationist and on other special projects with the study of endangered species.

Selected as a member of the National Spanish Society, the National English Society, and other academic awards, Gabby has quite a record of success in high school.

Combining her interest in biomedical science and research, Gabby and a fellow student designed a therapeutic sensory bracelet. It won second place in the County HOSA (Health Occupation Students of America) competition and second place in the State of Florida. They are now competing at the National Division in Dallas in a few weeks.

Gabby recalls her years at the Academy as a time she learned to be inquisitive and love learning. She feels she gained confidence in herself in the smaller environment that enabled her to manage the years ahead.

Congratulations to Gabby as she celebrates a wonderful high school record and enters college to study biology in August. It sure is grand to check in with you again! Time does fly!

Awarding Years of Dedicated Associate Service

By Holly Houser, Ocean Reef Press

On May 16, Club Associates came together in Town Hall for the annual celebration of the Ocean Reef Service Awards, which acknowledges and thanks those Associates who have spent year after dedicated year at Ocean Reef Club.

On this day, all full-time Associates who have been at the Club for five or more years were invited to attend the Ocean Reef-catered luncheon, with those celebrating a milestone year – 5, 10, 15, and beyond – specially recognized by their department head, Club President Alex Tonarelli, and ORC Chairman of the Board Charlie Johnston.

As Tonarelli opened the celebration, he remarked on how amazing it was to have so many long-tenured Associates in one room together. In fact, he shared the incredible statistics that of the 700 Club Associates, 450 of them have been at Ocean Reef for five or more years. Of those 450 associates with five or more years of service, 250 of them have been here for 10 years or more, and 125 have been here for 20 years plus. This long-held tenure, Tonarelli said, is what truly sets Ocean Reef apart from any other Club.

"If it weren't for the dedication to Ocean Reef that is clearly demonstrated by everyone in this room," Tonarelli said, "there is no way we would have been able to build the meaningful relationship between Member and Associate that we all enjoy. I think that is perhaps the biggest differentiator between us and other organizations. Our Associates have been able to get to know and create great experiences for not only one member of the family, but in some cases the parent, the child, a grandchild, a great-grandchild, and that's special. I want to personally thank you for your loyalty, and for everything you do day in and day out for Ocean Reef Club."

Next, Tonarelli introduced Chairman Charlie Johnston, who also commended the special Member-Associate relationship.

"It's really an honor for me to be here today on behalf of not just myself, but the entire Board of Directors," Johnston said as he addressed the room. "As a Board, nothing pleases us more than to have a Member regale us with a story about an interaction with one of our Associates. It may be that you always remember their favorite drink, or maybe you greet them and even their children by their first names. Whatever it is, it's always done with a smile and a genuinely gracious attitude towards our Members. That is what makes this an incredibly special place."

As the luncheon progressed, department leaders took the stage to acknowledge their individual Associates who achieved a milestone year. Remarkably, the 2022-2023 Service Awards celebrated a combined total of 5,333 years of service, with honorees hailing from all areas of the Club. Equally as impressive was seeing the number of years some individuals have devoted to this Club. Members won't be surprised to hear that Director of Safety & Security Sonny Vasquez is the longest-tenured Associate at 53 years, but those who follow are as exceptional: Paul Jones of Golf Course Maintenance with 44 years, Norcilia Alteme of Housekeeping with 42 years, and Barry Reed, Raw Bar Director, with 36 years.

"Recognizing the unwavering commitment of our Associates that play such a significant role in Ocean Reef Club's unique way of life makes me proud," said Johnston. "Throughout my time on the Board, Members have asked me many times, 'What do you think is the secret?' The answer is you – our Associates. I can't thank you enough for the job that you do, but also for your loyalty and length of service. You continue to be our secret sauce."

In honor of those Associates who, this year, reached a milestone in their careers at Ocean Reef Club, cheers to you and another five, 10, 15 years!

Yellow Ribbon Fund & Ocean Reef Provide Respite for Wounded Service Members & Their Families

Five years ago, Gina Harrow, the executive director of Yellow Ribbon Fund, and her husband, Captain Benjamin Harrow (ret.), a double amputee, experienced the comfort and joy Ocean Reef Club offers military families during a visit. Recognizing the profound impact the retreat could have on families like theirs, Gina was inspired to create a program to allow other military families to benefit from Ocean Reef Club. In early April, Yellow Ribbon Fund organized its fourth 5-day wellness retreat at Ocean Reef Club, where 11 deserving military families had the opportunity to bond, relax, and have fun. Despite starting the week as strangers, they quickly formed strong connections based on their shared experiences of service and sacrifice. As someone who has seen the positive effects of this retreat firsthand, Gina Harrow understands its importance for military families.

Yellow Ribbon Fund recognizes that maintaining mental and physical well-being is crucial for families, and the retreat provided an opportunity for families to reconnect in a stress-free environment. Families enjoyed quality time together, building lasting memories and strengthening their relationships, without having to worry about doctor's visits or daily stress.

Ocean Reef Club provided a unique blend of physical activities and respite, promoting the long-term physical and emotional well-being of the families. The experience had a profound impact, fostering coping mechanisms, building peer support networks, and promoting overall family well-being.

Military families, who have often spent extended periods apart, benefitted from the quality time spent together and the opportunity to connect with others who share similar circumstances.

"This trip meant the world to us and our children. It gave us much-needed family time away from our daily lives. The everyday adventures and the ability to meet the other families was an experience we will never forget." – YRF Caregiver

For the families involved, the retreat was a transformative experience, with children making new friends and experiencing new things, while parents were able to relax and enjoy time with their loved ones.

Happy 100th birthday Claire Bear McCann!

The Ocean Reef Press wishes a very happy birthday to Claire McCann, who is turning 100 this year on Tuesday, June 6. Affectionately known around The Reef as Claire Bear, she began visiting Ocean Reef with her late husband Laurence in the 60s and has loved Ocean Reef ever since. In fact, Claire Bear's daughters remember that her first home at Ocean Reef was an "original cinder block charmer on the ocean." Here, she's pictured at the Bag Room Open, in which she's happily attended year after year in support of the Club's Golf Professionals.

Unique Camps

By Jody Steele

The Summer Camp Program at Ocean Reef offers over 20 types of camps. Some of them are the traditional choices in areas such as golf, tennis, sailing and the ever-popular Reef Club Kids. However, our camp staff also continues to offer other more “unique” camps to provide variety and cater to special interests. Two of these camps are Brain Teasers and the new Field & Fitness.

Brain Teasers is designed for the creative campers who may someday be an architect or engineer. The camp runs from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., allowing campers to engage in project design, focus on science and technology challenges, and still have time for swimming at Buccaneer. The camp is scheduled for June 11-16 and August 7-11, making it the

The new Field & Fitness Camp is tailored for children aged 8-14 who are active and enthusiastic about playing various sports. The camp takes place from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on June 12-16 and August 7-11. Campers will have the opportunity to participate in basketball, soccer, golf, croquet, and swim. Developing athletic skills along with fostering teamwork and sportsmanship is the goal for these campers.

So make sure to check out these unique camps offered during two different weeks for your family camper who is ready for summer fun at Ocean Reef Club.

Ocean Reef Chamber Businesses' Unwavering Commitment to Excellence

By Brad Copeland, Ocean Reef Chamber President

As the President of the Ocean Reef Chamber, serving my third term, I want to take a moment to address this issue of the rising cost of services and assure you that our businesses' commitment to excellence remains unwavering.

From the moment I joined the Chamber in 2012, I quickly realized that our organization stands apart from the typical social clubs, B2B networking groups, and tourism associations found in other Chambers of Commerce. While we do offer some of those benefits to our esteemed members, our mission extends beyond that. Our primary focus is on nurturing businesses that deliver services aligned with the highest quality standards set by Ocean Reef Club.

At the Ocean Reef Chamber of Commerce, we hold our members to the Ocean Reef level of quality standards. Each applicant undergoes a thorough vetting process conducted by our dedicated Board. Our members genuinely care about delivering exceptional service and continually strive to do so, even in the face of constant cost increases that characterize today's challenging business environment.

As many of you know, I own and operate Going Aire. Just the other day, while reviewing a current job for one of my valued customers, I came across a similar job performed for another customer back in December 2020. It involved a straightforward installation of a standard air conditioning system, much like the one I was evaluating at that moment. What surprised me was the notable difference in pricing, the cost of the equipment alone now surpasses the total cost of the installation.

I am well aware that the HVAC industry, like many others, has encountered supply chain disruptions and soaring material costs. Additionally, the new EPA standards implemented in 2023 have altered the minimum requirements for equipment, thereby influencing prices.

Cost Challenges Prevalent

Seeking a comprehensive understanding of the situation, I reached out to two esteemed Board members to discuss their experiences within our current economy. They shared similar challenges and shed light on additional factors affecting costs.

Ken Reda, the General Manager of MarineMax, illuminated the obstacles his company faces as Ocean Reef's premier marine service provider. This year alone, MarineMax has invested over $1,000,000 in equipment replacements while grappling with payroll costs that have surged by over 40%. These costs are driven by market dynamics and the unique nature of our location (think fuel, tolls, and even lunch).

John Forrer, owner of ProTech E2, faces a combination of the aforementioned challenges, along with rising costs associated with maintaining his own fleet of trucks. The electrical business has, perhaps, been hit hardest by the supply chain disruptions, with parts and even simple meters experiencing exponential price increases. Switches alone have surged by over 50%, and generator switches have witnessed a 30% rise in the last three months. To compound these challenges, the trades are grappling with a shortage of skilled labor.

Despite these hurdles, each of our companies has proudly served the Ocean Reef community for many years. We, along with all the dedicated Chamber members, want our cherished customers—the very individuals who provide us with our livelihoods—to know that we remain unwavering in our commitment to delivering quality service. However, we must also acknowledge that delivering on this commitment comes at a price. Rest assured, this price is fair and derived from the competitive marketplace. The dramatic increase in prices at Ocean Reef mirrors the prevailing economic climate affecting businesses everywhere.

The Ocean Reef Chamber of Commerce continues to work diligently within the community to ensure that the quality component of the value proposition remains intact. We understand the importance of maintaining the trust and satisfaction of our customers. Together with our dedicated

CLUB SHOPPING

Joan the Shopper

Memorable Shopping Memorial Day Weekend (May 26 through 29) offers an unequalled opportunity for shopping at Ocean Reef.... There are trunk shows that feature some of our favorite vendors; attractive merchandise on sale in many OR stores; and an outdoor street fair with racks and counters filled with great finds, frequently at bargain prices.... To make sure that all of you dedicated shoppers don't miss anything, here is a brief outline of the weekend schedule – FRIDAY May 26: The Burgee Shop in the Fishing Village is featuring Zoe's Empire Trunk Show. This Miami-based line of dresses, conceived by Sylvia Njeri, is among the Burgee Shop's best sellers. Sylvia, who immigrated from Kenya, incorporates the bright colors and interesting designs from her home country into the ultra-feminine loose-fitting dresses (long and short) that are currently all the rage. Pictured here is an example.... Also at Burgee, there's a trunk show for Lexi Jewelry (5/26 to 5/29). This line of handcrafted jewelry is made in small batches in the Lexi studio in Miami. Their mantra is "Made with your everyday lifestyle in mind." I like that... SATURDAY (5/27) the Fishing Village will be the scene of a sidewalk sale. Most of the FV stores will have outside displays with more bargains available inside. Top of my list

from Zoe's Empire

is the huge J. McLaughlin sale, which runs from Friday through Monday with 50% off many items (some are 70%) Also represented in this one-day souk will be the OR Golf Shop; Island Garden; Sandpiper; Angie Chemla Purses and Lauri Afri kids.... And all of you regular customers at the Farmer's Market will be delighted to hear that Kool Treats, Gemita's Kitchen and Lomelo's Wagyu Steaks will also be on hand on Saturday at the Fishing Village.... The good news for the future is that many of these Memorial Weekend sales don't end with Memorial Day – e.g., Tennis Shop; Spa; Fitness Boutique; and Sandpiper. (At Sandpiper's Barracuda Lane location, the sales will continue with most everything in the store discounted.) Last Word: Nothing haunts us like the things we didn't buy.

Weather or Not!

"Dot.calm"
by Jane
Silverman
Berman

Throughout history, man has tried to predict the weather; for instance, according to The Farmer's Almanac for centuries people have accurately used dried twigs of balsam fir hung outside: the stick curls upward for good weather and downwards when bad weather is coming.

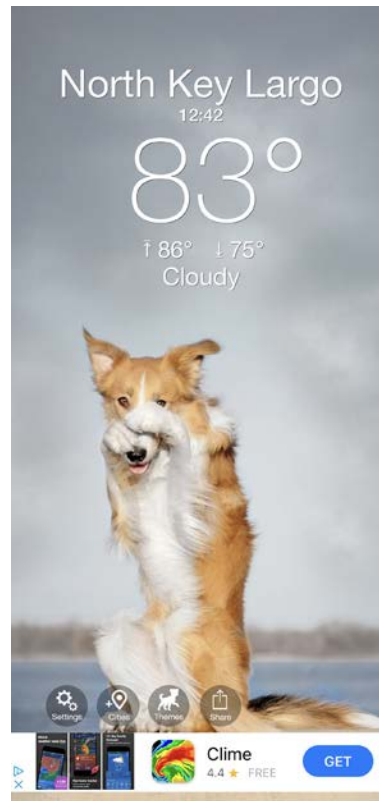

My grandmother taught me that rain was coming if the wind blew the leaves on the trees and flipped their undersides up. Other rain-forecasting oddities in nature include cats will clean their ears (and/or sneeze), spiders come down from their webs, cows lie down in a field, and some flower petals will close to protect their pollen.

Dr. George Merryweather's 19th-century Tempest Prognosticator used leeches to predict rain.

One of the oddest uses of nature to predict bad weather was a device created by the aptly named Dr. George Merryweather in the 19th century. The almost accurate (which was pretty good back

Why not see a cute puppy while checking your daily weather? Weather Puppy Forecast + Radar lets you do just that.

then) Tempest Prognosticator

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tempest_prognosticator was an ornate barometric apparatus that used leeches. The device stood over three feet tall with 12 pint-sized glass bottles in a circle around its base. At the mouth of each bottle was a tiny whalebone pin attached to a wire with a small hammer which was connected to a bell. Each bottle contained a leech in a few inches of water. In nature, leeches remain lower in water unless it is rainy when they rise to the top. Like mercury rising in a thermometer, the leeches would rise in the bottles as a storm approached, jiggering the pin and triggering the bell repeatedly, thus ringing in the rain. Really.

Pocket Prognosticator:

I check the weather as soon as I wake up, before I make a plan during the week, and before I go to sleep at night. I regularly compare my weather apps for detailed hourly and daily forecasts, radar maps, severe weather alerts, and more, bouncing between The Weather Channel-Radar, Accuweather: Weather Alerts, Yahoo Weather (stunning photos!), and MyRadar Weather Radar.

Whether you are a weather-obsessed person or not, why not brighten your day with these fun – dare I say odd? -- weather apps:

Not Boring Weather (iPhone/iPad)

<https://www.andy.works/product/weather> is a design-focused interpretation of the weather in a single screenshot. The 3D animation interface is mesmerizing to play with as you spin and flip the graphics and hear the sounds of wind, rain, or a gentle swish of a summer's day. Tap the screen to see detailed weather and then the faint gray circle in the top right to choose your favorite colors ("skins") to change the whole look and feel, change the location, or play a mindless "cloudburst game." Not Boring Weather is a very sensory experience and definitely not boring.

Weather Puppy Forecast + Radar

<https://weatherpuppy.com/> (and also Weather Kitty Forecast + Radar <https://weatherkittyapp.com/>) is just so darn cute with a different pup or kitty every time you swipe the screen or open the app. Swipe up to see radar and other weather data and swipe left to see other locations. Click on the buttons at the bottom to add cities or themes. The app comes with three free themes or you can sign up for the paid version and add photos of your own pet or choose from 14 dog breeds and activities like "Yoga Dog."

Library Corner

by Susan Bohan

The Library has adopted its summer hours: Monday and Thursday, 10 a.m. to noon to accommodate Members and account for fewer volunteers. Come by to see some of the newest books of fiction added to the collection:

“Dark Angel” by John Sandford – a Letty Davenport novel which brings her to infiltrate a group of hackers to avoid their wreaking havoc on America but finds they are not the only enemy involved

“The Covenant of Water” by Abraham Verghese – follows three generations of a family in India as they try to uncover the answers to a strange secret

“Simply Lies” by David Baldacci – psychological thriller pitting two very different women in a game of cat and mouse with a mysterious ending

“I Will Find You” by Harlan Coben – a father accused of killing his child suddenly discovers his son may be alive and needs to escape prison and the authorities to find him and discover the truth

“Pineapple Street” by Jenny Jackson – the perfect beach read about New York one-percenters and their complicated families

“Homecoming” by Kate Morton – the importance of family and the secrets they keep set in South Australia in this intricate tale

“Hello Beautiful” by Ann Napolitano – a moving portrait of enduring love complicated

by circumstances of a new love’s past

“Hang the Moon” by Jeannette Walls – a feisty heroine fights for what is rightly hers in a family and a town full of secret factions and reckless characters

“City of Dreams” by Don Winslow – second in the trilogy of Danny Ryan, which began with “City on Fire,” about a man and his family on the run from both the government and crime families who must risk their lives to return to a peaceful life again

Check Your Bookshelves!
We urge those that use the Library to check their shelves both here and up north in search of overlooked books for return. The book drop on the Airport side of the Cultural Center is the easiest way to return books any time and the U.S. Postal Service has a special rate for mailing books.

As usual, there are two long shelves of excellent paperbacks anyone is welcome to take out and return (or not) - ideal for reading at the beach or while traveling! There are both fiction and non-fiction. And do not forget the large children’s collection for rainy days at The Reef or when the little ones have had too much sun as well as a nice selection of puzzles ranging from simple to difficult.

Babor Ampoules

“Spa Notes”
by Jillian
Barron, The Spa Director

Ampoules are instant beautifiers for use at home and are power-packed to meet a wide range of skin needs. The highly concentrated active fluids are individually portioned in luxurious glass ampoules, providing an exclusive skincare experience for every skin type and condition, with immediate effects. Ampoules achieve impressive results you can see and feel, and thanks to their hygienic individual packaging, no preservatives are needed.

How to use our Babor Ampoules:
After cleansing, shake the tiny glass ampoule and cover the neck of it with a cosmetic tissue or the enclosed ampoule opener. Hold the ampoule by the neck or the opener and break it open at the lower white ring with a quick snap. Place the concentrate in the palm of your hand; then apply it evenly to face, neck, and décolleté. Pat it gently into the skin. Follow with the application of skincare cream.

Best Sellers & Member Favorites:

- 3D Firming Ampoule
The 3D Firming Ampoule Concentrates are designed for skin with diminishing firmness and loss of contour. Over the years, our skin loses more and more elasticity, causing facial contours to lose definition. Thanks to the active ingredient complex of this ampoule treatment, the 3D Firming impresses with improved firmness and skin elasticity, more defined facial contours, and reduced wrinkles and lines.
- Lift Express Ampoule

The Lift Express Ampoules contain lifting effect ingredients that make the skin immediately look smoother. Mature skin looks firmer and more youthful thanks to these active ingredients. This ampoule was designed for a quick “lifting effect” and to support mature skin while providing more tone and elasticity. Additionally, it works to soften various types of wrinkles and can even provide up to 6 hours of instantly smoother-looking skin.

- Perfect Glow Ampoule
This ampoule is often referred to as the beauty filter ampoule, as it delivers an instantly visible effect. Delicate glow pigments and precious ingredients in the concentrate give the skin a pretty portrait appearance with a more even-looking skin tone, lasting glow effect and fresh radiance. The skin also appears smoother, rosy fresh, and more radiant.
- Collagen Ampoule
With increasing age, the natural production of collagen in the skin continues to decline, causing the skin to lose elasticity and produce more wrinkles. BABOR experts have combined their current know-how of anti-aging skincare in Collagen Firming Ampoule Concentrates and developed a concentrate designed to combat the loss of skin tone and elasticity. Enriched with specially formulated ingredients, the active ingredients in Collagen Firming Ampoule Concentrates support preservation of the collagen network to ensure more elasticity and younger-looking skin.

In addition to the ampoules listed above, Babor offers ampoules for other skin concerns that need to be addressed quickly, such as the SOS Calming Ampoule, After Sun Ampoule, the Multi-Vitamin Ampoule for prevention and better protection, and even our Men’s Instant Energy Ampoule for intense hydration and increased vitality.

INSIDE THIS ISSUE

The Treasure of Fisherman's Cove

by Robert Broton, Flotilla Commander, U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary-Ocean Reef

A combination of natural water flow and man-made dredging created one of the most iconic areas of Ocean Reef. These acres of water are surrounded by 88 residences with docks, all overlooking the cove and its inner island. The key to its success is easy access by water to Pumpkin Creek, Angelfish Creek, Card

Proof that waves erode the coral walls, causing boulders to fall into the cove.

Sound Intercoastal and the reefs of Key Largo. It is a fragile balance of nature with man. This balance is being corrupted by unaware boaters.

Cove balance requires NO WAKE. The unnecessary wave action disturbs the coral walls and erodes them from the underside resulting in boulders tumbling into the cove, destroying the shoreline.

Safety is also concern. When leaving the cove by Blast horn 20 feet past the sign.

boat, send someone forward to listen first. To prevent collision, a sign is posted, "Narrow passage. Blow horn two long blasts. Slow speed." Sound these blasts for two to five seconds and 20 feet PAST the sign to project the sound outward into the creek - otherwise it is not heard. Sounding too early disturbs the community and is ineffective. When entering from Pumpkin Creek, listen first, then one loud blast two to five seconds directed into the channel before entering. If you hear another boat after entering, use 5 short blasts as a warning. Be sure your horn is loud enough to be heard.

Fisherman's Cove is a treasure - let's keep it that way.

Summer Camps Galore!

by Hannah Fleckenstein, Head Tennis Professional

Man, oh man! Can you believe this is Memorial Weekend? It seems like just yesterday I was planning the Harvest Moon Opening Round Robin. What a fabulous winter season we had this year thanks to all of you! Justin, myself and the rest of the Tennis & Games Staff are so thankful for the support that we received from the membership this year, especially as both Justin and I took on new and exciting roles here at Ocean Reef.

With all of that being said, we are ready and gearing up for a jam-packed summer full of sunshine, smiles and summer camps! Our staff this summer will consist of many familiar faces that include myself, Justin and our beloved pickleball pro, Kevin Girard. A few newcomers will also be joining us to wrangle the campers that we are excitedly anticipating! Anyone that has been at the Tennis & Games Center this past week has met our newest arrival, Jose Vacabustamante. Hailing originally from Santa Cruz, Bolivia, Vacabustamante has coached all over the world in places such as New Zealand, Alaska and the Maldives, but most recently he was in Naples, Florida! We are excited to have him aboard and we can't wait for him to meet all of you. Next time you are at the Tennis & Games Center, please come say hello to Jose, our newest Assistant Tennis Professional.

Speaking of campers, we are excited to offer a wide variety of camps again this summer, including fan favorites Quickstart Tennis, Tournament Tough Tennis Camp, Moms Only Tennis Camp, Adult Pickleball, Tween Pickleball, and Kids Pickleball.

We are excited to expand our offerings to include the croquet lawn this summer. From June 26th to the 30th, we will be running Kids Croquet and Pickleball Camp which will introduce campers to the rules of Golf Croquet, our croquet game of choice here at Ocean Reef! Once the campers master the art of blocking, clearing and jumping balls through the wickets, they will take their talents to the pickleball courts where they will learn to drive, drop and dink their way to success. This camp is certainly the training ground for dual sport club champions to come. For the adults that are kids at heart, we did not forget about you! From July 24th to the 28th we will be offering Adult TPC Camp (tennis, pickleball & croquet) for our triathlete members. Similar to that of the Kids Croquet and Pickleball Camp, campers will learn the necessary rules and skills on the croquet lawn and pickleball courts, with the added bonus of time on the tennis court to sharpen their groundstrokes, volleys and everyone's favorite - the overhead.

We are excited about all that is to come this summer and we look forward to seeing you on the courts and the lawn when you are not on the water!

Summer Camp Schedule:

Introducing Assistant Tennis Professional Jose Vacabustamante

Jose Vacabustamante

The Tennis & Games Center welcomes their newest Assistant Tennis Professional, Jose Vacabustamante, to the courts. Here's a little bit about Jose!

Where are you from?

I was born and raised in Santa Cruz, Bolivia until I was 17 years old.

Where did you play college tennis?

I played and attended Emporia State University (NCAA D2) in Emporia, Kansas.

Where have you worked in the past as a Tennis Professional?

I have worked as an assistant college coach as well as in tennis clubs, tennis academies and resorts.

- Tennis clubs: Genesis Health Club-Kansas City, Emporia Country Club – Emporia, KS
- Tennis academies: IMG Bollettieri Tennis Academy- Adults and Juniors as Nick's Bollettieri assistant, Tompkins Tennis International, Fremont, California - High-performance Director, Gomez

Tennis Academy, Naples, Florida – High-Performance Coach

- Resorts: Casa de Campo, Dominican Republic - Tennis Director, One and Only, Maldives - Tennis Professional and Recreation, Ritz Carlton Fari Islands, Maldives - Tennis Professional and Recreation Supervisor

What other positions have you worked and where?

I worked as a Recreation Manager at Chena Hot Springs Resort in Fairbanks Alaska, Sports Coordinator in Seward, Alaska, Executive Airport Lineman in San Francisco, CA, and at Executive Homestead Airport, and a Fitness Director for Workout Anytime Gyms.

What is your favorite thing about teaching tennis and teaching people in general?

I love teaching tennis because I can share my knowledge for the sport and thus spread the passion for tennis! I also love watching people get better!

What are you looking forward to this summer at Ocean Reef?

I am looking forward to meeting the Members and guests, especially the ones that love playing tennis and other sports. I am also excited to be immersed in the Ocean Reef culture and the Keys way of living!

What is your favorite thing to do when you are not on the court?

I love kitesurfing and going out to the ocean. I love fishing, camping, watersports, soccer, disc golf, pickleball, basically sports in general and being outside doing fun things.

You are currently in flight school! What excites you about flying?

I love flying because when I fly, I feel free, and love sightseeing nature from above and in the air.

"WHERE QUALITY SERVICE IS A FAMILY VALUE"

Communicating During Doubles Play

by Jose Vacabustamante, Assistant Tennis Professional

For this tennis tip of the week, I wanted to emphasize the importance of communication when playing doubles. When you are playing doubles there's always confusion between you and your partner in specific areas of the court. The most common one is when the ball goes between you and your partner. My tip is when that happens, always make sure the priority to hit that ball goes to the dominant side of the player. For example, if we are both right-handed and my position on the court is on the add side, I have priority to hit the ball if it goes in the middle because I'd be hitting it with my dominant stroke, which is my forehand. This way, we reduce that confusion and my partner and I become more aggressive, which in doubles is very important.

Keeping this confusion in mind when thinking of how to best your opponents, you must aim to hit the ball low to their feet and to the middle when both of your opponents come to the net. This way, you will create an opportunity for a weak volley or an easy ball to put away or volley back with aggression, winning the point.

In summary, to become a great doubles player in defensive mode, you must cover the middle, communicating with your partner that whoever is in the position to play with their dominant side has priority, and when both opponents come to the net, hit to the middle-low to their feet. Communication and knowing where you and your partner and opponents are on the court is the key to winning in doubles.

Serving in Doubles

Another quick tip in doubles is to serve in the right target of the serving box.

A great serve in doubles is where you can give the best opportunity for your partner to put balls away or to get a weak return or no return at all. Serving in doubles is about placing the ball instead of power. I would recommend keeping a slower-pace serve where you can control the placement of the ball. Then depending on your level of play, you can adjust the power.

Ideally, you would like to place the ball in three targeted areas inside the service box - to the T, middle, and wide. Once, you pick a target, you can communicate with your partner where you plan to place the serve and he/she can anticipate where the return will be, creating opportunities for winning the point by putting balls away or winning the point on the serve. The strategy behind the three targets relies on the opponent's ability to return successfully. For example, if my opponent is having a hard time returning on his/her forehand, I would place the ball to the T (considering if he/she are right-handed), or if his/her weakness is backhand, then I would place the ball on the wide side of the service box. If they have very good return on either side, another option is placing it in the middle so your opponent must move out of the way and create an opportunity to get a weaker return or even winning the point.

Overall, serving in the right box target can give you and your partner huge opportunities to anticipate and win more points at the net.

HEARING LOSS & ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE

Research has shown there is a direct link between untreated hearing loss and cognitive decline, which in individuals with Alzheimer's predisposition can accelerate the disease.

Almost 7 MILLION Americans have Alzheimer's

6.7 MILLION people over the age of 65 have Alzheimer's

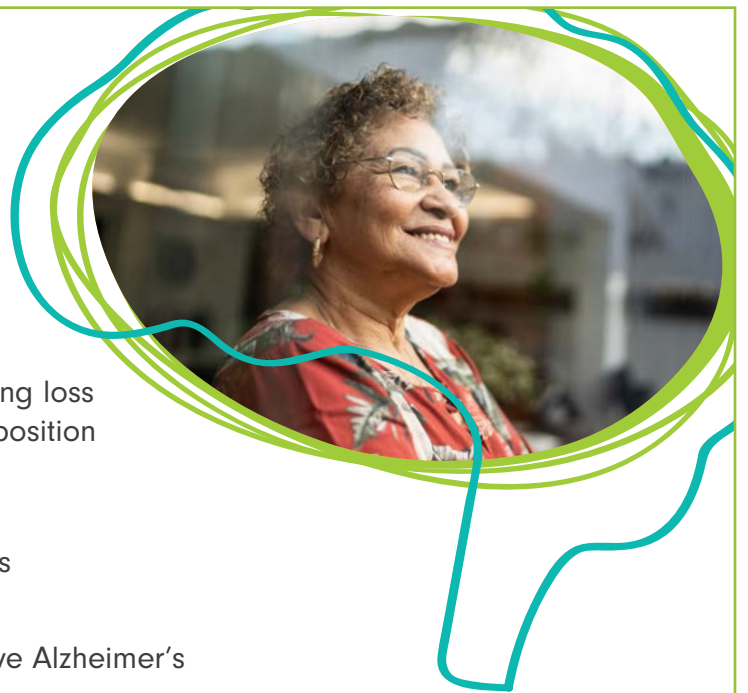

People with moderate to severe hearing loss are up to 5 TIMES AS LIKELY TO develop dementia

To prevent a decline in cognitive abilities and to keep your brain healthy, it's important to be proactive about your hearing.

What Golf Ball is Right for You?

“From the Gold Tees” by Michael Leone, Director of Golf

Golfers often ask what golf ball is best for their game. The options are endless, but the fact of the matter is that higher-performing golf balls are better for everyone’s game no matter the skill level. Golf balls such as ProV1’s and ProV1X’s benefit all players including higher handicaps, specifically on approach shots and around the green. Higher-performing golf balls spin more around the green while not sacrificing any distance off the tee.

For questions on what golf balls you should use and what we have available in the Golf

Do You Have the Correct Grip for Your Game?

“Swing Tip” by Derek Swoboda, Director of Instruction

The grip is likely the most important piece of our set up or foundation. Without a proper grip, it is highly unlikely that we are going to achieve the desired results we are all looking for! Let’s begin by talking about the three grip definitions and how they work with the golf club.

1. Weak

A weak grip consists of the bottom hand being more on top of the golf club at address where you will see the thumb on the side of the club. This grip tends to open the club face at impact and looks like the player has a “early release”.

2. Neutral

A neutral grip is on the side of the club where the palm of the bottom hand is facing the target. This grip is not weak or strong it is just in the middle allowing for a very square club face at impact while the hands are slightly ahead of the ball.

3. Strong

A strong grip is where the palm of the bottom hand faces more toward the sky. The bottom hand looks like it is curled under the club which allows the club face to close rapidly at impact. Players with a strong grip will have an extreme amount of shaft lean at impact giving the view of keeping the hands very far ahead of the ball.

Professional Player Examples of Each Grip

Jack Nicklaus had a very weak right hand grip. The Golden Bear played a power fade with much success due to that weak right hand. For Jack, this grip was his strongest way to play and helped him to win 18 major championships. As a result of his weak right hand, Jack was able to use his hands to release the club as much as he wanted to, giving the view of too much hands. Watching Nicklaus at impact is perhaps even more incredible.

Rory McIlroy has one of those incredibly beautiful golf swings everyone enjoys seeing. Rory has a very neutral right hand which allows him to move the ball in either direction very simply if he needs to.

Dustin Johnson has been one of the most talented players of recent times on the tour. Dustin has an extremely strong grip when it comes to both hands. How is it possible with this grip to be a fade player? Dustin’s hips are so incredibly fast it allows his right elbow to tuck in front of his hip when moving to the golf ball. This gives a visual of the hands being very far in front of the golf ball at impact allowing Dustin to keep the club face open and hitting fades.

All of this information is great but how do we know what we should be doing in our set up to have a grip which is appropriate you each of us? Come get tested at the Academy of Golf to find out what you should be and start playing your best golf!

The Five Pillars of Fitness

“Fitness Focus”
by Luis Bracamonte,
Director of Fitness & Wellness

If you aim to be a stronger, healthier, leaner, more resilient version of yourself, spend time improving these five pillars:

Movement

This pillar refers to the combined effect of daily physical activity and exercise in all its formats and intensity levels. If you are a beginner, aim to sit less and walk more. Stretch 5 minutes daily and perform 20 to 30 minutes of aerobic or steady-pace exercise two to three times per week, plus two to three sessions of 20 to 30 minutes of strength training, such as doing squats or push-ups per week. Add high-intensity intervals once or twice per week for those at the intermediate level. Exercise for the week should include resistance training, cardiovascular conditioning, and range of motion/flexibility training for 4 hours or more per week. At the intermediate level, your body should experience a significant difference in how you look and feel. The advanced level has no limits and is the most rewarding. Here is where movement and exercise becomes an integral part of your life. When you reach this level, your body works for you, and you will find challenges exciting.

Nutrition

What we eat and drink ends up becoming our cells and the fuel that moves us. The field of nutrition has numerous points of view, many contradictory, and it is not my goal to recommend any particular diet.

However, paying attention to what we eat and how much we eat is important. In time, through trial and error, we find what works for each of us in a sustainable and enjoyable way. Staying with mainstream recommendations, reducing sugars, starches, alcohol, and fried food intake makes managing weight significantly easier. Your protein intake should support your active lifestyle, and look to eat several servings of vegetables per day to cover micronutrient needs. Food can be a source of pleasure and connection while giving our bodies everything they need for optimal performance.

Recovery

Sleep and recovery modalities such as massage, saunas, and cold therapies are trending as professional athletes and teams invest more in them. Pro athletes know that injury risk increases and performance decreases without proper recovery. We do not need to engage in professional sports to benefit from this practice. Think of sleep quantity and quality as the most important physical aspect of recovery. Massage through the hands of a therapist or self-massage tools such as massage guns, Power Plate whole body vibration, or foam rollers decreases excess tension and maintains suppleness. Hydration, especially during the summer months, is key. If you are experiencing regular muscle cramping, you are likely experiencing water and/or electrolyte imbalance. Dehydration increases mental fatigue and significantly reduces physical performance. Other recovery modalities that are increasingly popular in the professional athletic and wellness worlds are cold plunges and saunas. Recovery is paramount to physical and mental progress and development.

Mindset

When we focus on controlling what we can control, we turn the world into our playground.

We can increase control over our thoughts, emotions, actions, and reactions. One way to start is to learn to focus on one thing at a time and give the frame we want to give it. Meditation, after all, is not about emptying our minds but focusing our attention. In the same way that running strengthens our legs, meditation strengthens our minds. Spend two minutes each day focusing on your breath. Become aware of each inhalation and exhalation. Pay attention to a particular sound or visual and explore it completely. When you practice awareness and focus, you will become more skilled at controlling your thoughts, emotions, actions, and reactions. The world we live in is the world we perceive.

Connection

We are social animals wired for connection. Extroverts and introverts need it in different degrees, forms, lengths, and intensities, but we all need it. We must not fear exploring connections to others to live our best emotional, human lives. Make sure your connections align with your personal goals of self-mastery and growth. As we wake up daily to make the best of each moment, focus on everything and everyone surrounding us. Life is action, motion, discovery, exploration, and interpretation.

Make the most out of your summer and beyond through fitness mastery. The Member Fitness Center remains open all year, every day of the week, to meet your gym-time needs. Summer hours, which start on Tuesday, May 30th after Memorial Day, are Monday to Friday, 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday, 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. The Outdoor Fitness Tent and the Fitness Pool are the same as the Member Fitness hours. The Marina Fitness Center is open to Members 24/7. For all inquiries on group class schedules, personal training, yoga, or Pilates, contact us at 305-367-5820.

BRIDGE TIP

Bidding With Interference

Bidding would be a lot easier if the opponents did not interfere. But we know this is not the case. Here are some guidelines when the opponents get in our way:

After a Suit Overcall

Suit Responses:

If your partner opens and the next opponent overcalls in a suit then 2/1 Game Forcing (including 1NT Forcing) are OFF. We now revert to Standard Bidding:

- New suit at the 1-level promises 4 pieces (6+ points).
- New suit at the 2-level promises 5 pieces (10+ points).

•1NT would show a balanced hand with 6-10 HCPs (with stoppers in the opponent's suit)

•Raise in partner's suit would show 3 card support and 7-10 points

•Double raise in partner's suit would show 4 card support and 6-9 points

•Triple raise in partner's suit would show 5 card support and 6-9 points.

•Cue Bid would show a Limit Raise (11-12) or Better

Examples below:

West	North	East	South
	1 ♣	1 ♦	1 ♠ = 4 spades and 6+ points
	1 ♣	1 ♦	1NT = 6-10 HCPs with diamonds stoppers (no 4-card major)
	1 ♠	2 ♦	2♥ = 5 hearts and 10+ points (forcing)
	1 ♠	2♦	2♠ = 3 spades and 7-10 points (non-forcing)
	1 ♠	2♦	3♠ = 4 spades and 6-9 points (non-forcing)
	1 ♠	2♦	4♠ = 5 spades and 6-9 points (non-forcing)

Negative Doubles
Don't forget about Negative Doubles!

West	North	East	South
	1 ♣	1♥	Double = Shows 4 Spades
	1 ♣	1♥	1♠ = Shows 5 Spades
	1 ♣	1♠	Double = Shows 4 Hearts
	1 ♣	1♦	Double = Shows 4 Hearts AND 4 Spades
	1♥	1♠	Double = Shows 4 Clubs AND 4 Diamonds
